

was dead. He had lain down to kill himself.

Patrolman J. L. Helms, Detective Sergeant William Crot, and others of the gun squad, then discovered that they, too, had been cut by glass. Their hands were bleeding. They hadn't realized it before. In the excitement they had felt no pain.

Drunk on Home Made Wine.

All day Ondeck had been drinking. He had a keg of home made wine upstairs and he left it infrequently. His wife was not in the house. He had beaten her Saturday and she had gone to live with friends.

At 1 o'clock in the afternoon the family of Paul Sikel, living in the basement, were alarmed by a shot that came down through the floor and into the bedroom. Because they feared Ondeck they made no inquiries at the time.

Later they saw Johnny, the 14 year old son, in front of the house. They asked him about the shooting, and he said: "O, father's crazy again," he said. "But he doesn't mean any harm."

Wife Swears Out Warrant.

The girls, Anna, Alice, May, and Helen, who had been with their mother, Mrs. Julia Ondeck, came home later in the day. When they heard about the shot they left immediately. Mrs. Ondeck swore out a warrant for her husband's arrest.

Later George Jr., 23, entered the house. He heard his father muttering something about shooting, saw him loading his double barreled shotgun, saw boxes and boxes of shells. He made some pretext, went out, and hurried to the New City police station. The auto patrol started immediately for the Ondeck residence. Detective Sergeant Charles Berounski, Policemen Keating and Fortier, and Joseph Stoutz, the chauffeur, leaped out. Berounski, who had the warrant, went to the back door with Keating. He rapped. The door was opened and then slammed shut and bolted.

The First Shot.

The detective and the policeman rushed to the front door, believing Ondeck would try to escape. The door was open. They walked in. The house was in darkness. As they reached the living room Berounski struck a match and reached up to light the gas. As the tiny flame appeared there came a roar and a spurt of fire from one corner of the room. A charge of shot passed over their heads and smashed the glass in a picture on the wall.

The match fell, went out. Berounski and Keating stood still in the dark, not knowing which way to run, where to fire.

Two more shots lightened up the room. The police fired. Fortier and Stoutz fired from the doorway. They shot at the flash.

Keating cried out that he was hit. He fell to the floor. They picked him up and hurried with him, and as they went down the stairs Ondeck fired twice at them with a revolver. Then he closed the door and heaped furniture in front of it. The barricade was built. The siege was on.

House in Strategic Position.

Ondeck's cottage occupies a strategic position. It is a story and a half frame building. To the south of it is an alley. To the north is a vacant lot. In the rear is a yard.

The besieged man with his shotgun commanded all these approaches, and now and then during the hours of the siege he swept the street with his gun, keeping the police at bay.

Patrolmen Michael Connelly, Michael Hackett, John W. Atczynski came as reinforcements. The battle continued. Lieut. John Egan, Policeman Wall, and others came on the run. Every policeman in the district was sent over.

The Rifle Squad Appears.

Lieut. Egan brought with him a stack of rifles from the station. Then came Capt. Matthew Zimmer, in charge of the district, and presently Chief of Detectives Mooney and his rifle squad, and Chief of Police Garrity.

Garrity issued special orders to the Englewood, stockyards, Fifteenth street, and other police stations to send over all the men they could and all the rifles. Toward the end there were nearly 250 policemen there and a number of citizens who were issued rifles.

A Tribune reporter drove up in a taxicab, and it was at once requisitioned to go back to the station after more rifles.

The attackers were located behind fences, on dark porches in the neighborhood, on roofs, wherever they could stand or kneel or lie down and shoot with some degree of safety.

The leaden hail soon made a huge sieve of the house, but Ondeck was unhurt. He would appear now at an attic window, fire, retreat downstairs, fire from a side door, rush to a front or rear window, and fire again.

Shot Hurls Victim to Street.

Wall, waiting until Ondeck was at the rear, dashed up the front stairs. Ondeck heard, shot, and tumbled him down the stairs into the street.

Podorski was with Policeman Wall. Ondeck is the godfather of one of his children and he believed Ondeck would not fire at him. He thought that if he

Chicago Capital of U. S., Plan of Illinois Architects

A national capital which will rival other great capitals of the world, typify the spirit of the nation, and become an international monument to the world's heroes, is the basis of plans for a new capital discussed by the Illinois chapter of the American Institute of Architects in a meeting at the Art Institute last night.

Washington, members of the institute pointed out, is not a typical American city representing all phases of national activity. Huge sums will shortly be spent on rebuilding adequate buildings for the various governmental branches and departments. Reports on public buildings by a commission appointed by congress in 1916 show that Washington is "destined to be almost completely rebuilt" that millions of dollars, probably as much as the total spent in 100 years, will be expended in constructing permanent buildings, for the ever increasing business of the government.

At present Washington is located on the outskirts of the business life of the nation and is situated on a narrow strip of land, 3,000 miles wide and 1,200 miles long. In comparison with the growth of other larger cities its development has been slow. A nation with a teeming population of over 100,000,000 should have a capital commensurate in size with other world capitals, should represent the various phases of national activity and should typify the position of the United States among nations. Central location, easy access, facilities for ready expansion, and safety and efficiency from a military standpoint were some of the other facts presented in the plan to show why a new capital is needed.

George B. Jones of the Chicago Association of Commerce presented the plan before the institute for its serious consideration.

A map sketching the probable site should Chicago become the seat of government for the nation was presented to the institute by Thomas E. Talmadge. For reasons of climate, beauty of location, and natural advantages the territory in the vicinity of Fort Sheridan, stretching north as far as Lake Forest and south to Glenview and west to the Des Plaines river valley was the site selected by Mr. Talmadge.

President George Maher of the institute voiced his approval of the project and appointed a committee to give the plan serious consideration. Plans for bootstrapping Chicago as the new capital will be presented to the Mississippi Valley association when that body meets in Chicago in April.

could get into the house he could induce the madman to surrender.

It was about midnight when Johnny Ondeck jumped out a side window.

The boy crawled close to the house, walked slowly and cautiously along the side until he reached the front. Then he darted out into the street, across it, into a passageway, almost stumbling over bluecoat who lay on his stomach and hugged a rifle.

"He had only fifty-two shells," said the boy, shaking with fright. "They're almost all gone now. He's crazy!"

The boy was in his night clothes. He had been in bed, he said. His father had not harmed him, had not even noticed him.

"He's out of his head," the boy continued. "He prays, and says things that don't mean anything. He sings. He runs all around."

Then came in rapid and dramatic succession the barrage, the charge, the battering down of the door, the single revolver shot, the panic, and the final mad rush into the house, and the flash lighting on the body.

A Sidelight of Siege.

Shortly after the siege began detectives Berounski and Byrne worked their way into the basement home of the Sikel. They thought they might be able to go up into the upper floor through the basement, but they couldn't.

They found the family in the bedroom, cowering terror-stricken on the floor, the four children under the bed. "Don't shoot up through the floor," said Sikel. "If you do, he'll fire down again, and hit some of the children."

Sikel after a time leaped out a window, flattened himself on the ground and began to crawl. A policeman fired at him. Sikel screamed.

"I'm not the man you want," he said. "I'm Paul Sikel!"

He explained he had come out to see if there wasn't something he could do to protect his family. The police could suggest nothing. Sikel crept back.

"If I can't help them," he said, "I'll die with them."

And when the siege was ended, he and his wife and the children got up and danced with joy.

Family Flees; Missing.

"He's as spells when he's drinking," said Ondeck's nearest neighbor, Joseph Koranda, 5037 South Seeley avenue.

"I understand he's been drinking heavily all day. He had a keg of home-made wine in his house. I met him at about 6 o'clock, however, and he seemed quite rational. We talked about politics for some time."

"Some time ago he hanged himself, but the ambulance doctor from the city station came and revived him."

John Ondeck, the son, was taken into the home of George Givney, 5039 South Seeley avenue, after he had told the police all he knew. Givney's wife died yesterday and there was a wake at the house.

There were many women present to care for the boy. He wept for his mother and his sisters, and his brother, George, however, and nothing could comfort him.

"And they're going to kill my father," he cried. "He was always good to me. He never beat me. He was a good father to me. O, if only he wouldn't drink as he does. He'd be the best father any kid could have."

Neighborhood in Terror.

The entire neighborhood was in terror over the siege. The firing could be heard for blocks away. People in far

LEAN BANK ROLL OF DUTCH REDS HALTS OUTBREAK

Bolshevik Busy, but Execution Appears to Lack Punch.

BY FREDERICK A. SMITH.
(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
(Special Wireless Dispatch to The Tribune.)

ROTTERDAM, March 7, via London. March 11.—The bolsheviks have four fiery deputies in the Dutch parliament. They publish a newspaper called the Bolsheviki, maintain relations with the Russian soviet government and the German Spartacists, and coordinate with the three biggest trade unionist groups in Holland.

David Wynekop, who is called "Holland's little Liebknecht," has openly threatened a general strike in a speech in parliament, and it is safe to assume that back of that threat lies the assurance of certain labor elements and revolutionists all the way from the North sea to Petrograd that they are ready.

Unfortunately for the disciples of Lenin and Liebknecht, Holland's bolsheviki bank roll is a little shy. Money is coming across the German borders in small quantities, but the Holland government has requested the banks to stop payments, and it is deporting other Russian agents of propaganda.

Funds Are Lacking.

It is known that leaders of various radical parties have been meeting with a purpose to plan a general move this month to set up a proletarian in the place of the bourgeoisie, but the several millions promised by the Russian government has not been forthcoming. And even an idealist needs dollars for success. The army and navy and a disaffected majority is loyal to the government, which is confident it has the situation under control.

The last bolsheviki crisis was in January, when an assembly of international communists met in The Hague and Spartacist success in Germany was the only thing required to launch a revolutionary attempt, accompanied by a general strike and terrorism. The government then adopted stern measures. Civil guards were formed, banks, newspaper premises, and police headquarters were equipped with machine guns. The minister was personally on the job at Amsterdam.

Soldiers Answer with Shots.

Wynekop, with workmen, has visited soldiers in their barracks asking them to join the movement, but the soldiers fired, killing three and wounding several. Efforts to corrupt the cavalry by navy men by similar means were not a success, and as a final disaster the Spartacists failed in Germany.

Six thousand soldiers engaged in a mutiny when demobilization was delayed, but the mutiny was crushed. The Social Democratic Workers' party immediately announced that in case the government needed protection they would remain loyal. Some time earlier, Deputy Trotsky, the leader of the Social Democratic Workers' party, made a speech in the chamber announcing a revolution, but the uprising fizzled out, and since then has been humorously termed by the Dutch people as "a committee revolution."

The police had pumped hundreds of bullets into the flat Detective Paul Bolum talked to Mueller over the telephone and induced him to let him come in. Once in he overpowered the burglar and led him out. Bolum was rewarded for his bravery.

How Bolshevism Developed.

Here is the way bolshevism was organized in Holland, the system being similar to that used in other countries. As a matter of fact, Holland was projected as a base for bolshevist operations on account of its geographical location and its political situation.

In the first place, the Russian and German agents were here secretly conducting a month to month propaganda, bringing in funds and establishing soviets. Some time ago four Russians were jailed and later deported. German spies were caught at the border, bringing in small sums of money, but one was captured who had 60,000 marks hidden in his cap. Papers indicated that these carriers were in communication with Wynekop. Wynekop and three colleagues were taken to parliament by the Communists of Amsterdam last year. They have established Communist committees in almost every Dutch town.

Allied with Workmen.

The Communist party is closely related to leaders of the national workmen's secretariat, of which Bernard Lansink Jr. is secretary, and as such is strike dictator, his endorsement being necessary on any order which Wynekop may issue for labor demonstrations. Wynekop and Lansink work with Jan Ceton, an agitator, and who is sometimes called the "soul of the Social Democratic party." Practically every workers' organization in Holland is affiliated with the national workmen's secretariat, which has 35,000 members, but which includes a total of 200,000 workmen in all.

COP IS LIGHTNING ROD; THIEF'S BULLET IS BOLT

John McFadden, 305 Throop street, an alleged freight car burglar, was shot in the arm and head and one of two companions is believed to have been wounded last night in a revolver fight with two private detectives at Clark and Fourteenth streets.

L. D. Jacobson, a detective employed by the Erie railroad, had a narrow escape when McFadden, from the top of a freight car, fired five shots at him. One bullet tore a hole through Jacobson's holster, bruised his hip, passed down his trousers leg, and grazed his shoe before imbedding itself in the ground.

Jacobson and George Simmons, his companion, suspected the three men and watched them early in the night as they walked through the railroad yards. They saw the men working on a sealed freight car and ordered them to hold up their hands. Instead of complying the men sprang between two cars and McFadden climbed to the top of one. His companions opened fire from behind the car trucks. The five emptied their revolvers before the shooting ceased.

The other two men escaped.

DANIELS, SITTING AT HIS DESK, TALKS TO OFFICER IN CLOUDS

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 11.—Secretary Daniels talked today by radio telephone with a navy flying boat en route from Washington to Havana, Cuba.

Communication was established at a distance of more than 150 miles, by far the longest transmission of radio telephone signals with an airplane in flight ever achieved.

The secretary used the ordinary desk telephone on his desk at the navy department.

Mr. Daniels spoke of his pleasure in making a test of the constantly improving navy apparatus and asked the ensign how far away his machine was. After a moment's delay the officer replied that he was then more than 150 miles from Washington and flying at a high altitude.

The officer's voice came very indistinctly toward the end of the conversation as the distance increased. The experts at the department said the 150 miles was practically the extreme range of radio telephone communication with present equipment.

were jailed and later deported. German spies were caught at the border, bringing in small sums of money, but one was captured who had 60,000 marks hidden in his cap. All Under Fire.

Every man on the stage or in the pit has been under fire. There are twenty-four "bucks" and non-coms in the troupe, and one delightful girl, the lovely Paula Temple. She was loaned by the Y. M. C. A. and came from Shubert's "Beauty Show." Lieut. Herbert H. Harris, (foster son of Lew Fields), R. O. of the Prairie division, put the troupe together, directed its production and business managers the tour, now approaching its one hundredth performance—every one a riot. (That ought to please Lew and his Broadway friends—what?)

The thirty-third had been fighting fifty-four days along the Meuse when Gen. Bell directed the formation of the musical show, then conceived only as a local entertainment. The first rehearsal was at Troyon in a wrecked clubhouse that had been used by the Germans a brief time before. The roof was missing, but a wall section and part of the floor remained, and in this corner began "The Liberty Bells."

Rehearsals Are Begun.

Taking note of the plot of "The Girl Behind the Counter" and mixing it with the barber shop scene from "The Henpecks," Harris conducted rehearsals when the division was not practicing the boogie.

The first performance was given on Dec. 1 in what was left of a theater at Rupt with auto headlights as stage floods and candles as footlights. Since then through rain and mud, sometimes under fair skies, the troupe has moved, trucked, and special trained, always pleasing every audience and never forgetting the boys in the hospitals.

Movie fans will be particularly interested in Lester Cunes of Chicago, leading man of the Liberty Bells, who is well known in the States as the "heavy" in many films. Cunes went over the top three times.

The cast, including the jazz in the pit, is as follows, practically all being Chicagoans: John L. Murray, Chicago postoffice; Frank Morris, William Scully, George Ansley, Donald Tenyck, Owen Murphy, H. Newell, Lester Cunes, William Black, Julius Kahn, Charles Schenkel, Sol Cohen, Arthur W. Kassel, and Lester News.

PRESIDENT TAKES UP PEACE WORK; ATTENDS MOVIES

On Board the U. S. S. George Washington, March 11.—[By wireless to the Associated Press.]—President Wilson, feeling more vigorous than at any time since his departure from the United States, devoted some time today to his approaching tasks in Paris. The progress made by the peace conference during his absence encourages the hope that he may be able to make his stay abroad shorter than he at first expected. The president is planning to do everything possible to expedite the work of the conference.

For the first time in several days President Wilson attended moving picture tonight.

The new escort of destroyers from the Azores fell in with the George Washington this afternoon and took up convoy duty.

The president received a wireless from a delegation of the Cleveland Chamber of Commerce, proceeding to England on the Aquitania, conveying greetings and best wishes. The president is receiving unusual courtesies of the sea from passing ships. The command Anne bore to visit cities George Washington passed. This salute is customarily given only to royalty.

LABOR REPORT SHOWS DECREASE IN IDLENESS

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 11.—[Special.]—According to reports received by the United States employment service on conditions of employment and unemployment throughout the United States the situation for the current week shows slight improvement over last week.

The percentage of cities reporting a heavy surplus of labor over demand decreased from 66 per cent to 63 per cent. The percentage of cities reporting an approximate equality of labor demand and supply increased from 21 per cent to 28 per cent.

However, only 3 per cent of the reporting cities reported a shortage of labor, which is 4 per cent lower than last week.

ANSELL REPLY TO CROWDER MAY REMAIN SECRET

Representative Gould Defends Him in Letter to Baker.

Washington, D. C., March 11.—[Lent.] Col. Samuel T. Ansell, former acting judge advocate general, submitted a statement to Acting Secretary Crowder today in reply to the letter of Maj. Gen. Enoch H. Crowder, on the administration of military justice. Col. Ansell's statement was not made public. Soon after it was submitted, Representative Gould of New York, gave out copies of a letter he wrote Secretary Baker today regarding the discharge of Col. Ansell from his wartime commission as a brigadier general.

Gould Criticizes Department.

Representative Gould told the secretary he was "unable to escape the conclusion that the war department had deliberately and ruthlessly adopted this method of punishing a public spirited and efficient officer whose sole offense was against a powerful and self-centered clique in your department, in that he answered a summons which he could not decline, and that congress the truth about a matter which it was clearly the duty of congress to inquire into."

May Drop Publicity.

Many officers regard it as unlikely Col. Ansell's reply to Gen. Crowder will be made public until Secretary Baker, now on a trip of inspection of army camps, has been consulted, and some officers doubt that the department will even then further air a controversy between Gen. Crowder and a subordinate, particularly in view of the fact that the whole subject has been submitted to the inspector general of the army, Maj. Gen. John L. Chamberlain, for investigation.

Col. Ansell himself cannot make public his letter without rendering himself liable to discipline.

There is now in progress at Cowan's the most important exhibition and sale of Antique and Modern Chinese, Spanish, Persian and other Oriental Carpets, Rugs and Textiles ever held in Chicago—a strong statement, but one which is absolutely within the facts.

This collection consists largely of specimen pieces, of the sort never offered through ordinary commercial channels. If you are interested in the rug weaving of the Orient merely as a fine art, you cannot afford to miss this rare opportunity—and you are cordially invited to view the collection, regardless of intent to purchase. Still less can you afford to overlook this occasion, if you are interested in the purchase of rugs—or if you expect to be at any time within the year—as rug prices are very rapidly advancing and this collection is now very specially priced at

$25 to $25000

Rug experts will be in regular attendance to give you reliable counsel in all matters relating to rug periods, textures, design and quality. Amongst others present will be Mr. ARTHUR UPHAM POPE, one of the foremost authorities of the world in all matters relating to Oriental arts. Mr. Pope's services will be available during this sale for special counsel on rugs, for expert appraisals, etc.

SELL REPLY TO CROWDER MAY REMAIN SECRET

Representative Gould Depends Him in Letter to Baker.

Washington, D. C., March 11.—Lieut. Anselm T. Ansell, former acting advocate general, submitted a letter to Acting Secretary Crowder in reply to the letter of Maj. Knoch H. Crowder, on the subject of military justice. Col. Ansell's statement was not made public after it was submitted.

Representative Gould of New York, out copies of a letter he wrote to Maj. Baker today regarding the subject of Col. Ansell from his commission as a brigadier general.

Gould Criticizes Department.

Representative Gould told the secretaries of the department that he was unable to escape the conclusion that the war department had adopted a method of punishing a public and efficient officer whose sole fault was that he was a powerful and influential man in your department. In that he answered a summons he could not decline, and told the truth about a matter it was clearly the duty of the department to inquire into.

May Drop Publicity.

Officers regard it as unlikely that Ansell's reply to Gen. Crowder will be made public until Secretary Baker, on a trip of inspection of army posts, has been consulted, and some doubt that the department will then further air a controversy on Gen. Crowder and a subordinate in view of the fact that the whole subject has been submitted to the inspector general of the army, Maj. Gen. John L. Chamberlain, for his consideration.

Ansell himself cannot make public a letter without rendering himself liable to disciplinary action.

Gen. Edward A. Krieger, dead as acting judge advocate general, due at New York on Thursday to transport America.

TROOPS TURN ON SPARTACANS IN BERLIN SUBURB

Reinforced Soldiers Drive
Reds from Stronghold in Lichtenberg.

BULLETIN.
ROTTERDAM, March 11.—The attack by Spartacans on the police at Lichtenberg, suburban Berlin, resulted in a massacre, the extent of which is variously reported. The Berliner Tageblatt gives the number of police shot dead as 57; the Morgen Post says 200, and another paper places the number at 250. When the fighting began the Republican guard troops at Lichtenberg declared themselves neutral and failed to interfere.

BULLETIN.
BERLIN, via Bern, March 10.—(Night).—The government troops are preparing to use flame throwers against a large body of Reds at a lake in a park in the northeast of Berlin. Two regiments of government troops are marching to give battle. A stiff fight is expected before morning. The losses on both sides have been heavy in the latest continuous outbreaks in the city.

LONDON, March 11.—[By the Associated Press.]—The German government troops, greatly reinforced, have resumed the fighting in Lichtenberg, a suburb of Berlin, a German wireless dispatch received here tonight says. The dispatch adds that the Spartacans already have been obliged to evacuate the police headquarters and the postoffice.

Fighting is going on with great fury, according to reports received in Copenhagen from the German capital and forwarded by the Exchange Telegraph company. Witnesses of the fighting in the last few days say that both the Spartacans and the government soldiers acted like wild beasts. Hostilities continue in the northern and northeastern sections of Berlin and the government troops are killing all prisoners who fall into their hands.

Witnesses also participated in the cruelties with as much desperation as the men.

Property Loss $150,000,000.
ZURICH, March 11.—The recent street fighting in Berlin has resulted in the death of 182 noncombatants, the destruction of 240 houses, and a property loss of $150,000,000, according to a report made by a bourgeois committee, Berlin dispatches state today.

Drive Gangs from City.
BERLIN, Monday, March 10.—[By the Associated Press.]—Government troops were busy today in driving Spartacan bands from various sections of Berlin and in preparing for a determined effort against the Spartacan stronghold of Lichtenberg, a suburb to the east of the city. The Spartacans are reported to have large deposits of weapons and ammunition in Lichtenberg.

Government troops sent to Lichtenberg Sunday to protect the postoffice and police station were annihilated by the Spartacans. All the soldiers and police officials who were not killed during the fighting for the postoffice and police station or who did not escape from the buildings were murdered by the Spartacans. Many were tortured and killed in the streets. At least one woman was among the victims of the Spartacans. The police archives in Lichtenberg were burned and $9,000 marks were stolen from the postoffice.

WAR BORN'S BLASE BERLIN

BY RICHARD HENRY LITTLE.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)

(By Special Cable.)

(Copyright, 1919, by the Tribune Company.)

BERLIN, March 10, via Bern and Paris.—The revolutionists, who remained quiet all day while the government troops with bands marched up and down Unter den Linden, are now fighting desperately against the government soldiers, who are pushing them east and northeast of the Alexanderplatz. They are fighting behind barricades in Neu Koenigsstrasse, Landsbergerstrasse, and the district around Schiessicher railroad station.

The Reds have taken to underground tunnels of the railroad tonight and with machine guns mounted are giving the government troops a new problem.

The Reds' desperate resistance to night is considerable of a surprise, as it was thought they had given up the attempt to overturn the government until they could reorganize. Over 400 are said to have been killed or wounded yesterday, and the city morgue and undertakers' shops are filled with victims, while crowds of weeping people stand outside, waiting an opportunity to search for missing relatives and friends.

Berlin Languid to Disorder.

The situation is most confusing. Tonight the Unter den Linden is as peaceful as Michigan boulevard, with people in evening clothes going from dinners and fashionable restaurants, to the grand opera or the theater, none of which has been closed for a single performance in spite of the civil war over in the east.

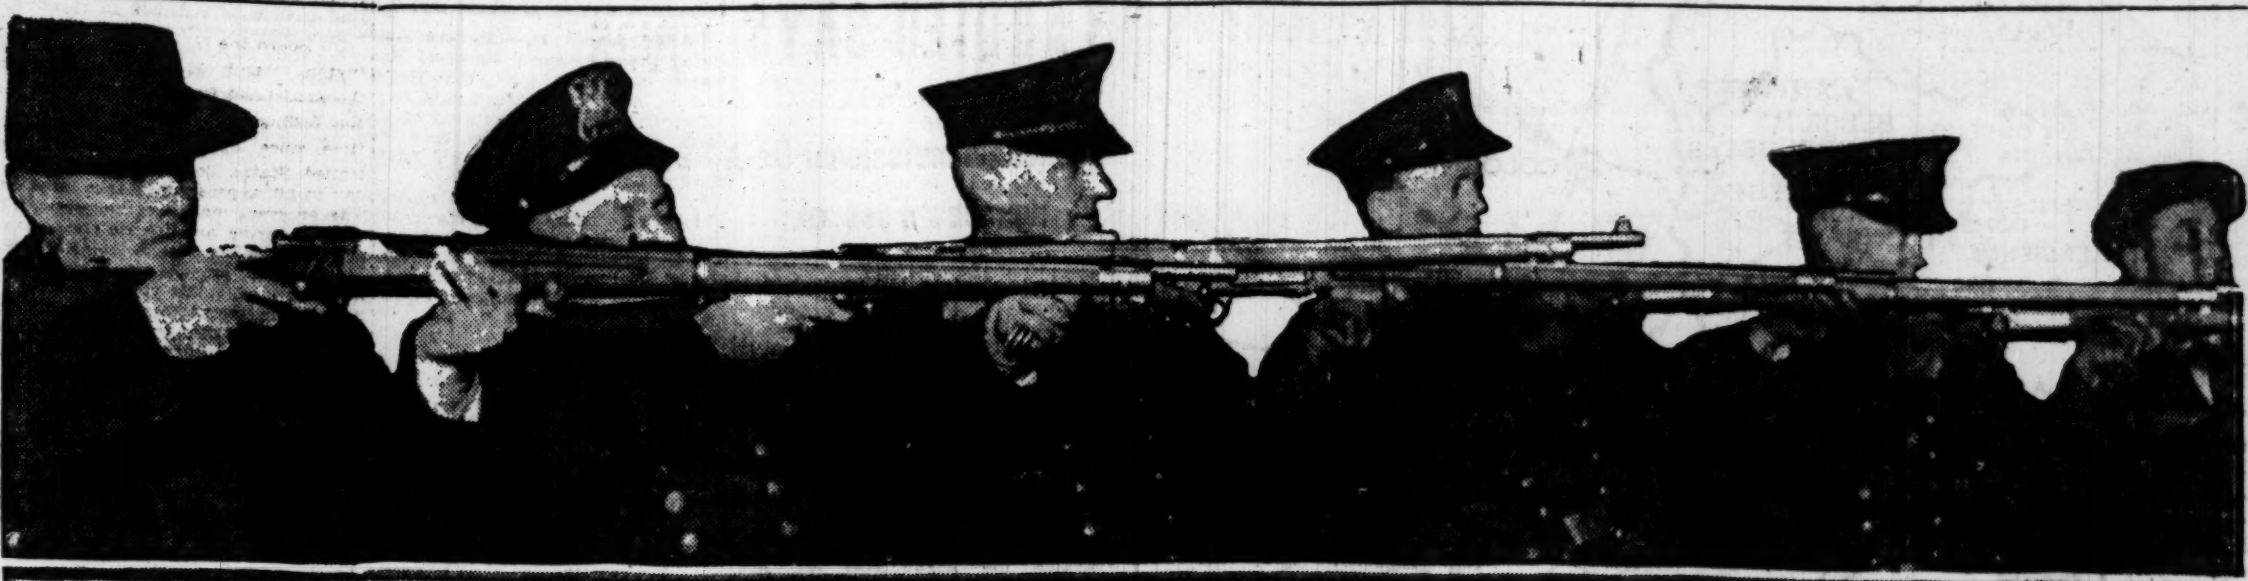

All afternoon people in smart traps and turnouts, with footmen in livery, were riding in the Tiergarten. They had about decided that the war was off when a furious rifle fusillade began over in the neighborhood of Friedrichstrasse. A station, two blocks north of the Unter den Linden, on Friedrichstrasse. The strollers on the boulevard and those going to the opera and the theater languidly in the direction that the sound of firing was coming from and paid no further attention to the matter. The revolution is getting to be a positive bore.

FAIR FATAL TO PATIENT.

A coroner's jury decided yesterday that William Mott, 59 years old, an inmate of the Chicago state hospital for the insane at Joliet, died of pneumonia, contracted while he was out of bed.

POPE PLEADS FOR AN EARLY PEACE, FEARING UNREST

PARIS, March 11.—[By the Associated Press.]—The pope has become known that Pope Benedict has addressed an appeal to the powers, emphasizing the urgency of the speedy conclusion of peace with Germany.

It is understood that the pontiff states that the Vatican possesses reliable information that the situation in Germany, socially and economically, is grave, and that he fears the spread of bolshevism with such rapidity that it might result in the establishment of a bolshevik state, which in turn might become allied with bolshevik Russia.

The pope is reported to have said that he feels that the only way to avoid such an eventuality is a speedy peace—a peace, he says, which will not humiliate the German people.

Four years ago he had him sent to Waupun prison on a charge of stealing a large sum from him. Two years later Gottfried went back to prison again, charged with obtaining money by false pretenses.

He was employed by the Murphy Plumbing company at Fort Sheridan last December, but suddenly disappeared.

AMERICA'S HUGE GUN PLANT TO CLOSE ITS GATES

Washington, D. C., March 11.—Abandonment of the Neville Island ordnance plant, planned as the largest munitions factory in the world, was announced today by the war department. Not only will construction be stopped at once but the buildings already completed will be dismantled and the tools and machinery manufactured or nearing completion will be transferred to other government arsenals or sold.

The island itself, in the Ohio river near Pittsburgh, will be turned back to the original owners.

Cancellation of the project is absolute. Reports that the island would be retained as the principal ordnance storage depot for the eastern part of the United States were specifically denied.

For a few months it will be utilized for storage purposes to relieve congestion at other depots, but when this need has passed the property will be cleared and turned back to its former owners.

WHITE RUSSIA SEEKS PEACE

BASEL, March 11.—A Libau dispatch received here says that a wireless message from Moscow states that the commissary for foreign relations of Lithuania and White Russia has sent a note to the American, French, British, and Italian governments asking when plenipotentiaries should go to Prinkipos island. It is said that the commissary's note stated that there was a disposition to settle all questions relative to the situation in that part of Russia in a peaceable manner.

AIR TRAINING TO CEASE MARCH 15, SAVE AT 2 FIELDS

Washington, D. C., March 11.—Coincident with the announcement today that Maj. Gen. William L. Kenly had been replaced as director of military aeronautics of the army by Brig. Gen. William Mitchell, it was learned that orders have been issued for the cessation of aviation training at all fields in the United States except two to be designated by Maj. Gen. Charles T. Menoher, director of the air service.

These instructions take effect March 15 and thereafter the work done at other fields than the two to be selected will have to do only with the storage and maintenance of equipment.

All aviation personnel that can be spared will be discharged by March 31 and the flyers retained at the two training fields to be kept in operation will be, so far as practicable, those who desire to remain in the permanent military establishment.

Gen. Menoher has not yet designated the fields at which training will be maintained.

Including numerous special fields, about thirty aviation fields and centers were in operation during the war.

SAYS OPERATIONS

ON HEART WILL

BE COMMON SOON

Operations on the heart, although in the experimental stage now, will before long be as common as ordinary surgical cases, Prof. O. Laurent, member of the Academy of Medicine of Paris, declared last night. He bases his prediction on successful operations of the war. Prof. Laurent arrived in Chicago yesterday and will speak tonight before the Chicago Medical society at the Field Annex.

Prof. Laurent brought with him movies taken in hospitals behind the lines on various fronts during the war. They show operations performed successfully on soldiers' hearts, "Siamese grafting," which is the art of grafting skin and bone by binding the arms or legs of two patients together, and of vivisection.

The professor, who won the first prize in sciences of the Academy of Paris, is advocating the establishment of a "laboratory of life" where it will be possible to study life in all of its forms from the simplest viewpoint.

Poland Calls Military

Classes from 1891 to 1896

PARIS, March 11.—[French Wireless Service.]—The Polish national assembly, according to a dispatch from Warsaw, has approved by a unanimous vote a law calling to military service the classes from 1891 to 1896, inclusive. It is expected that the measure will provide Poland with an army of 600,000 men. The deputies of the left, it is added, strongly favored the law.

AUSTRIA LIKELY TO BANISH CHARLES; HE SEEKS A HOME

PARIS, March 11.—Information has reached responsible quarters in Paris that the Austrian government is contemplating the enactment of a law banishing former Emperor Charles.

This report has aroused discussion here as to what country the ex-emperor would be likely to seek. It is said to be certain that he would not go to Italy or Germany, while the Scandinavian countries, with Holland's trouble over the presence of former Emperor William as a warning, are not considered likely to receive him. The choice would seem to lie between Switzerland and Spain.

Either of these two powers, however, would require guarantees from the powers. It is thought, against any possible future demand for the ex-emperor's extradition.

MAJ. GEN. WOOD

POINTS VALUE OF

UNIVERSAL DRILL

A plea for universal military training was made by Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood yesterday before the Chicago editorial conference in the Morrison hotel.

"You needn't be at all afraid of universal military training," said Gen. Wood. "It is the one thing that will give us a flame hot enough to fuse all the different elements in America into a united people. It is the one thing that will bring together all men on the same level, for when they are in training they will be stripped of ordinary social distinctions. All will wear the same uniform and will do the same work."

SLAIN ROBBER OF SILVER LAKE BANK IDENTIFIED

The bandit who robbed the Silver Lake bank, at Silver Lake, Wis., Monday and who was killed by Sheriff Joseph Meyers of Kenosha county, and his posse, was identified yesterday as Gottfried Juchilske.

He was 29 years old and a brother of Charles Juchilske of Kenosha. Charles, who has been in America many years, brought his younger brother here from Rushwits, Russia, about five years ago, paid his fare, got him a job, gave him money.

Four years ago he had him sent to Waupun prison on a charge of stealing a large sum from him. Two years later Gottfried went back to prison again, charged with obtaining money by false pretenses.

He was employed by the Murphy Plumbing company at Fort Sheridan last December, but suddenly disappeared.

ALLIES DEFEAT HEAVY ATTACKS OF BOLSHIEVIKI

Many Russians Slain in Repeated Onslaughts
in Arctic Zone.

ARCHANGEL, March 11.—[By the Associated Press.]—Operating ten guns, the bolshevik forces yesterday shelled the village of Viavka, on the Vaga river, almost completely destroying it.

Repeated heavy infantry attacks followed, but these were repulsed with heavy losses by the Americans, British, and Russians.

The allies were greatly outnumbered, but fought bravely in the snow. The allied troops this morning still occupied the ruins of Viavka and were ready for new attacks.

Siberians Gain 20 Miles.

VLADIVOSTOK, March 11.—[By the Associated Press.]—Information received here is to the effect that the bolsheviks have been driven back from the Petro Kungur railway to Osa, which is stubbornly defended. East of Ufa 12,000 Siberians advanced twenty miles. In the Orenburg region the bolsheviks captured Kanonikolska and threaten to cut off Gen. Dutov's army. The Japanese report the presence of 5,000 of the enemy in the Amur region.

Cossacks Protest to U. S.

VLADIVOSTOK, March 11.—[By the Associated Press.]—Delayed.—At a conference of the Ussuri Cossacks the president of the conference was authorized by the all-Russian Cossack communities to protest to the American government against the intervention by the American command of a large number of Cossacks, who late in January surrendered and turned over their arms and horses to the Americans.

By invitation, Col. Morrow, representing the American commandant, Col. Henry D. Stryer, attended the conference and outlined the attitude of the American staff. He said 450 Cossacks arrived in the American camp on the night of Jan. 28. He did not know why they had revolted. They were disarmed because they constituted a menace to the peace.

Col. Morrow explained to the conference that the men had been given the right of self-determination and said that the Americans would oppose forcibly any effort to subject them to the will of the conference.

HUMAN FLESH SOLD.

Washington, D. C., March 11.—Chaotic conditions in Russia, particularly in Petrograd and Moscow, were described in reports received today by the state department.

The depths to which the country has been plunged by bolshevik rule was said by the advisers to be indicated in a report from Moscow saying that human flesh had been sold to the famine stricken population by Chinese soldiers, who later were arrested.

government is weakening daily and is impressing on the conferees the necessity of speed in preparing the preliminary peace treaty before the government falls, at the same time warning that the harsher the terms imposed the greater likelihood of the government being overthrown.

The peace conference favors giving the present German government moral and economic support, but the matter of supporting Ebert militarily has not yet been brought up officially. The allies' one trump card against the Germans refusing the peace terms is they will withhold food, but the Germans have cunningly started a campaign of propaganda which holds that, regardless of what happens, the world dare not stand idly by and watch 80,000,000 people starve. At the same time, they make the covert threat that they will join hands with the Russian bolsheviks and overthrow the entire world if denied food.

While the commissions are studying the legal status of seizing the German cables and allotting them to England and France, the American commission is coming to the conclusion it is imperative that the United States lay and operate its own cables in order to have news of the world unhampered and not delayed by foreign censors in the future.

MILITARY TERMS ADOPTED.

PARIS, March 11.—[By the Associated Press.]—The military terms of the peace treaty adopted yesterday were in the hands of the drafting experts today to be put in the form of articles of the treaty. The naval and aerial terms are agreed to, except as to reservations regarding the disposal of the large German ships and the dismantling of Heligoland and the Kiel canal.

Germany's eastern, western and northern boundaries are now before the council in the committee on reparations. The eastern and northern boundaries are to be determined Thursday. The western boundaries will be settled Friday.

The consideration of reparations is set for Saturday, though this question may go beyond that time. This covers all the principal objects except reparations for the war.

Want Blame Fixed.

It is the desire of the French to have this made an integral part of the treaty, so as to settle the question, and this may be conceded, though it is an open question.

The consideration of reparations has introduced the word "trillion" in recognizing money, probably for the first time in any single financial operation. In estimating the war losses of all the powers the first figures of one of the great powers aggregated a trillion francs, and those of another power were slightly above a half trillion francs.

The covenant of the league of nations does not figure as a part of the peace treaty, but will be treated separately, although the treaty makes frequent reference to the duties which are to be entrusted to the league.

Hear of Fox Plots.

The council of the great powers heard tonight a statement presented by Dr. Benes of the Czech-Slovak delegation on the widespread conspiracy alleged to exist against the new state on three sides—Germany, Austro-Germany, and Hungary. According to documents found on a German courier arrested at Prague, an extensive plot is being fomented to excite a revolution and furnish arms and ammunition to those seeking to overturn the new government.

The council regards the representations as serious, and is taking measures to investigate and give adequate security.

The council today also considered

PULLING GERMANY'S FANGS ALONG THE RHINE

In accordance with the program adopted by the supreme council at Paris to eliminate Germany as a military power all the Rhine forts on the right bank of the river are to be dismantled and destroyed. This plan is based on making the Rhine the western boundary of Germany. All the territory to the west of the river is now occupied by allied troops, which also hold bridgeheads at Cologne, Coblenz, and Mayence. Alsace-Lorraine has gone back to France and the Saar valley, with its rich coal deposits, also, in all probability, will go with the Lorraine iron fields.

The territory to the north of Lorraine and west of the Rhine

U.S. AND BRITAIN NOT TO CENSOR OTHER'S CABLES

Washington, D. C., March 11.—Double censorship of cablegrams is abolished under the terms of an agreement between the United States and Great Britain made public today. The two countries agree that hereafter cable communication through the territory of either country will be subject only to the censorship of the country in which the message originates.

British censors will not interfere with cables from the United States to points outside the British empire, which have to pass through British territory, and American censored messages to points within the British empire will be delivered without undergoing the scrutiny of the British.

ONLY PEACE HOPE RESTS IN LEAGUE, TARDIEU SAYS

French Commissioner Denounces Foes of Covenant.

PARIS, March 11.—Capt. Andre Tardieu, the French high commissioner for Franco-American war matters, speaking at a banquet tonight given by the Interallied Press club in honor of the American peace commissioner, said:

"Of the great work, in which we are all laboring together, half is on the peace and its success is certain. Although the negotiations are not finished, we feel today that peace has been won. We feel it for many reasons, but one of the reasons sums up the others, this reason being that it is already certain that our common ideal will find its expression in the material settlement which we have to prepare, and this is of capital importance."

Peace and League One and Same.

"What I said on Jan. 11 last, on the eve of the opening of the conference, I repeat tonight—the treaty of peace and the league of nations can only be one question—and I say that the league of nations can be founded only on the treaty of peace, and on the other hand, the very principles on which the league will be founded will give their lasting value to the clauses of the treaty."

"It must be pointed out with justice that the common will of the governments wanted it, and to impose that will they had to struggle almost everywhere against the forces of incomprehensions, against political intrigues and often against the imprudence of newspaper men."

Attacks League Opponents.

"I mean to present, although you know them, the obstacles put forward in the light of publicity. One day the 'realists' accuse us of being idealists, those who desire that in the peace treaty of tomorrow an idealistic section should be included with the material clauses. Then we had 'politicians' who, preaching egotism to a democracy of 100,000,000 souls, gave them insidious advice not to carry their responsibilities into the future of the world, and still many others, biased counselors."

"Our aim is clear and simple. We

ROUMANIAN QUEEN MAY SOON VISIT UNITED STATES

PARIS, March 11.—[By the Associated Press.]—Queen Marie of Roumania may soon visit the United States. Whether the trip will be made before or after the conclusion of the peace conference has not been decided. The queen is leaving for London tomorrow.

In a conversation with the Associated Press today Queen Marie said that for many years her most cherished hope had been to visit the United States, and now she was looking forward to the early fulfillment of that hope.

"I feel that I shall be almost as much at home in America as in my own country," said the queen. "I have come to know Americans as intimately as my own people. I desire first to have the privilege of thanking in person the people of the United States for the great help they have given Roumania through the American Red Cross and the food administration."

"It is a splendid thing," Queen Marie continued, "to see so many of your fine soldiers in France. Whenever I pass one of them on the street I feel instinctively that there is one of my friends and my impulse is to shake every one of them by the hand." The queen spoke of the wonderful part played by the women of America and England in the war and declared it was their dauntless spirit which had carried the troops on to victory.

"Woman's day has come," she continued, "and I believe she will have an increasingly important part in the future life of the world."

"Gentlemen, we shall bring to all honest peoples, to all just peoples, a new element of hope and faith, a new and decisive reason to believe in the progress of humanity, and to work for it, without any honest people being deprived of any material guarantee, of any of those guarantees of which France, more than any other nation, knows the necessity."

U. S. Shipping Envoys Off Today to Brussels

Chicago Tribune-New York Times Cable.

[Copyright, 1919.]

PARIS, March 11.—[By Wire.]—Thomas W. Lamont, H. C. Hoover, and J. R. Robinson, representing E. N. Hurley, will go to Brussels tomorrow to renew negotiations with the German commissioners over the exchange of food for ships.

GERMAN PAPERS REGISTER KICK AT LEAGUE PLAN

Washington, D. C., March 11.—General opposition to the proposed league of nations is reflected in recent German newspaper comment received by the state department and made public today. Two of the journals declare that the league as proposed would establish an "Anglo-American world domination," while another characterizes it as "a league of arms against Germany."

The Vorwaerts asserts that the league "is a league of victors with the character of a trust, despite the welcome establishment of the principle of arbitration," and the treaty is pervaded with a capitalistic spirit.

The Tagliche Rundschau says that the league "simply establishes Anglo-American world domination, France, Japan, and Italy being permitted to assist as neutrals."

The Germans, according to the Tagblatt, now learn that in the league of nations statutes established at Paris, without consultation, no attention appears to have been paid to Germany, evidently considered a second or third rate power. The league is a draft of arms against Germany.

The Vossische Zeitung terms the treaty "a great disappointment; merely an instrument to maintain the supremacy of England and America."

GEN. WOOD TO SPEAK.

Gen. Leonard Wood will be the speaker at the Wednesday luncheon of the Association of Commerce this noon in the Hotel La Salle. On March 26 Senator Hiram Bingham will speak on the league of nations.

"TIZ" GLADDENS SORE, TIRED FEET

No puffed-up, burning, tender, aching feet—no corns or callouses.

"Tiz" makes sore, burning, tired feet fairly dance with delight. Away go the aches and pains, the corns, callouses, blisters, bunions and milllains.

"Tiz" draws out the acids and poisons that puff up your feet. No matter how hard you work, how long you dance, how far you walk or how long you remain on your feet, "Tiz" brings restful foot comfort. "Tiz" is magical, grand, wonderful for tired, aching, swollen, smarting feet. Ah! how comfortable, how happy you feel. Your feet just tingle for joy; shoes never hurt or seem tight.

Get a 25 cent box of "Tiz" now from any drugist or department store. End foot torture forever—wear smaller shoes, keep your feet fresh, sweet and happy. Just think a whole year's foot comfort for only 25 cents.

BRYAN A LEAGUE ADVOCATE, BUT WANTS CHANGES

Decrees Should Not Bind
—U. S. Might Not Recognized.

Washington, D. C., March 11.—William Jennings Bryan issued a statement here tonight indicating the league of nations, but suggesting amendments to the proposed constitution which among other things would preserve specifically the Monroe doctrine, enlarge the proportionate voting power of the United States, and make it clear that each member nation might decide for itself whether it would support decrees of the league's general council.

While pointing to imperfections, Mr. Bryan urged that they should not be allowed to lead to rejection of the plan, declaring that risks to be run in accepting the league were less than those involved in rejection and returning "to the old ways of blood and slaughter."

Intelligent Criticism an Aid.
Mr. Bryan dictated the statement from his sick bed at the home of friends, where he has been confined for nearly three weeks. He said the league of nations idea, "the greatest step toward peace in a thousand years," was taken from the thirty arbitration treaties negotiated by the United States while he was secretary of state. It was not to be expected, he said, that so great an idea would be made perfect in detail in so short a time, and added that while President Wilson "had done the best he could," he would be helped by intelligent and friendly criticism from the American public.

Has Three Great Principles.
"The idea of substituting reason for force in the settlement of international disputes," Mr. Bryan says, "is in itself an epoch-making advance. The constitution of the league as announced provides for three things which constitute in themselves an advantage, the importance of which can scarcely be estimated:

"Deliberation before war—the investigation of all disputes of whatever kind and character before hostilities begin. This almost ends war. The idea is taken from the thirty treaties negotiated by the United States with three-quarters of the world. Our nation, therefore, gives to the peace league its greatest piece of machinery."

"Second, the reduction of armaments will make it impossible for a nation to prepare for war without notifying the world of its intention."

"Third, the abolition of secret treaties, which will do much to prevent the combinations which lead to war. If the league of nations did nothing more than provide these three things our nation would be justified in supporting it to the utmost."

Suggests Amendments.
"I venture to point out certain amendments that in my judgment should be made in the interest of a stronger and better league. First, the basis of representation is not fair to the United States. A comparison of voting strength will show that while our nation is the most powerful in the combination, whether measured by population, wealth or moral influence, it has no larger vote than nations much inferior in population, wealth and influence."

"Second, the terms of admission to nations that may desire to join hereafter are not fair. To require a two-thirds vote to admit a new nation suggests the social club, where a few black balls may keep out an uncongenial applicant. This world league is for the world."

"It is not stated with sufficient clearness that the Monroe doctrine is preserved, and that a league member is not required to become a mandatory. It ought to be definitely stated that a nation asked to become a mandatory shall liberty to accept or decline. Again, it should be made clear that the league is not to interfere in the internal affairs of the nations belonging to the league. The league is for the settlement of international disputes, not for the adjustment of differences between a nation and its own people."

"Another matter that should be made clear—and nothing can be more important than this—is that each nation has a right to decide for itself whether it will undertake the things advised by the general council."

CHARGE RENTAL AGENT BARRED FLAT TO CHILDREN

Family, Unable to Rent Home, Inspires Fight Against Discrimination.

Mrs. L. D. Häfing, Baby Vivian, Bertrand and Adelaide.

Is there any landlord in Chicago who will tolerate—if not welcome—three children as residents in one of his flats?

If there be such, let him speak for he's the man Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Häfing and their brood are seeking. The Häfings, who live at 1470 Winnetka, have opened a fight against landlords who refuse to rent to families with children. State's Attorney Hoyne announced that all complaints from tenants who are discriminated against for this reason come to him. He promises action.

The corporation counsel's office, which has found a law prohibiting discrimination against tenants with children, will also receive complaints.

Meantime Mr. and Mrs. Häfing are wondering where to go.

LEAGUE ONLY ADVISORY, TAFT REPLIES TO KNOX

New York, March 11.—Answering Senator Knox's objections to the proposed league of nations, former President William H. Taft, in an address here tonight before the Economic club, declared that the covenant does not transfer the sovereignty of this nation to the governing body of the league.

"When Senator Knox's attack is analyzed, it will seem to rest on an assumption that the executive council is given executive powers, which is unwarranted by the text," Mr. Taft said. "The whole function of the executive council is to be the medium through which the league members are to exchange views, the advisory board to consider all matters arising in the field of the league's possible action and to advise the members as to what they ought by joint action to do. The council makes law if any orders binding on the members of the league."

U. S. ORDERS NEW CANNON TO TAKE PLACE OF 155 M. M.

Troy, N. Y., March 11.—The United States government has placed an order with the Watervliet arsenal for a gun the supersede the famous 155 (6-inch) millimeter gun.

The new gun is larger, shoots farther and does more damage. It is called a "one-ninety-four," and two guns were ordered as an experiment.

The gun is eight inches in diameter, twenty-one feet six inches long, weighs twelve tons, has a range of ten miles, and the projectiles weigh 175 pounds. It is the most powerful weapon of its size in existence.

MARINE LEAGUE TO BUILD PERMANENT CLUBHOUSE HERE

FIVE HUNDRED relatives and friends of United States marines gathered in the visitors' room at the Chicago Board of Trade last night and passed resolutions declaring the intention of the United States Marine league to establish a permanent clubhouse in Chicago as a memorial to marines killed in service.

The resolutions stated that of the 18,000 marines actually engaged, almost 12,000 were casualties. It is intended the clubhouse shall be always open to members of the marine corps. Means for financing it are to be sought at once by a committee of the league.

At the meeting a new constitution and new by-laws providing for the administration of the league by fifteen directors and eight standing committees were recommended for adoption.

Samuel P. Thrasher, president of the league, presided. His son, Dana Thrasher, was killed fighting at Soissons.

Heavy Damage in Melbourne by Downpour

MELBOURNE, Saturday, March 8.—Large sections of the city have been flooded by the heaviest rains in fifty years. Hundreds of houses were damaged and streets were torn up by the fury of the downpour.

Heavy rains have been reported in Tasmania, Victoria, New South Wales, and other parts of the commonwealth, breaking the recent drought.

GEORGE CREEL AGAIN WITH US IN PRIVATE LIFE

New York, March 11.—George Creel, head of the committee on public information in Washington, announced today on his return from Europe aboard the transport Agamemnon his intention to "return to private life."

"I am no longer with them," said Mr. Creel when asked for a statement about his activities in Europe for the committee. "I cabled a statement from Brest. Was it not released?" he asked.

When his questioners informed him that they had not heard of the statement being released, Mr. Creel dictated the following: "I am going to return to private life. The domestic activities of the committee on public information ended in December and I have made arrangements for the discontinuance of all foreign travel. My only relation with the committee on public information, as from March 1, will be a nominal one, in connection with the formal features of settlement."

City Dental Clinics to Help Fight Tuberculosis

Dental clinics will be established at the dispensaries of the municipal tuberculosis sanatorium. Health Commissioner Robertson yesterday declared that bad teeth caused tuberculosis.

"Of 25,000 persons treated at the sanatorium last year," said the commissioner, "about one-half of whom were children, we found a majority had bad teeth."

The commissioner said examination of the teeth would be a regular function at the dispensaries.

BORAH TO ASK VOTE OF PEOPLE ON LEAGUE PLAN

Will Offer Bill in the Next Congress for Poll of the Country.

(BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.)
Washington, D. C., March 11.—(Special.)—Determined to get an accurate and unmistakable expression of American public sentiment on the league of nations, Senator Borah of Idaho announced today that a bill for a nationwide popular referendum on the proposed covenant would be drafted for introduction immediately upon the convening of congress.

The senator expressed the view that the advocates of the league of nations would not dare to oppose the bill. Senator Borah also gave it as his opinion that the senate stands ready to abandon the traditional policy of considering treaties in secret session and throw the doors wide open to the public when the treaty containing the league of nations reaches the capitol.

Sees Opposition to League.
The Idaho senator returned to Washington today after a speech making tour against the league of nations through the east. He was elated with the receptions he received in New York and Boston, and reiterated his belief that the trend of public sentiment was now running strongly against the league.

He resumed his speech making Friday night, when he will address a meeting at Troy. He will speak Sunday night at Rochester, and then swing westward, speaking in Chicago probably about March 18.

Senator Borah declared his belief that any league of nations is destined to failure.

"The people are unable to distinguish between a league of nations and the league of nations," he said. "And when it is made clear to them that this means untold sacrifices on their part without the least assurance that it will prevent war, but, on the contrary, promote it, they are going to be against all leagues."

"The greatest thing that confronts the Republican party right now is that it may seek to compromise on this question. If it does the party will destroy itself."

Norris Assails League Plan.
The opposition was a new convert in the senate today in the person of Senator Norris, Republican of Nebraska. Senator Norris declined to sign the pledge to support the Lodge resolution, and heretofore has been regarded as a probable proponent of the league.

Although he voted against war, and has been characterized as a pacifist, Senator Norris in an open letter to constituents today declared that the proposed constitution has provisions in it that are "dangerous."

"I think," he wrote, "we ought to take the world as it is, and not as we would like to have it. It seems, therefore, inadvisable to me to enter into any agreement that would make it necessary for us, or any other nation, to maintain standing armies for the support of new and independent governments that it is intended to establish among semi-civilized people. Such a course is not only dangerous, and will, in my judgment, bring failure to that part of the enterprise, but it is in no sense necessary to maintain the peace of the world."

"In the name of democracy and for the avowed purpose of making the world safe for democracy, he went to Europe a splendid and courageous never equaled in the history of the world," he wrote. "While his fellow citizens were sacrificing in every possible way, he used the money that came from millions of honest toilers in a display of wealth never equaled by any king, monarch, or potentate from the beginning of history."

Find New Law Is Needed to Deal with Red Press

(BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.)
Washington, D. C., March 11.—(Special.)—No steps have been taken by the government to suppress the bolshevik periodicals published chiefly in Chicago, which according to Solicitor Lamar of the postoffice department are seeking "to inaugurate a nation-wide reign of terror and overthrow the government of the United States by means of a bloody revolution and the establishment of a bolshevik republic."

It was explained at the postoffice department today that the question of what law it is most feasible to invoke in proceeding against these publications is under consideration.

Mail Privilege Withdrawn.
The second class mailing privilege of some of the journals cited to the senate propaganda committee yesterday was withdrawn before the armistice and application of others for second class privileges has not been granted up to date.

The question has been raised of the feasibility of prosecutions under the espionage act, since the armistice has removed "embarrassment in the conduct of such proceedings," but it is believed that under an old statute convictions could be procured for inciting conspiracy to overthrow the government.

To Ask New Laws.
In any event congress will be asked to enact new legislation, specifically dealing with such a menace as is presented by the Chicago publications.

The senate propaganda committee is prepared to recommend drastic legislation to suppress the espionage act which dies with the formal proclamation of peace.

Senator Overman of North Carolina, chairman of the committee, said today he had no doubt of the constitutional power of congress to enact a law strong enough to check the growing menace of bolshevism.

Expressing his own views, Senator Overman declared that the best features of the espionage act should be preserved in the new law and that more "teeth" should be added to give the federal government power to deal effectively with individuals, organizations, and publications which advocate the overthrow of the government.

Would Suppress Foreign Papers.
Senator Overman said he personally favored the suppression of the foreign language newspapers in the United States as a step towards the realization of "undiluted Americanism" here.

He was inclined to think that the recommendation of the committee probably would be to require the foreign language newspapers to carry literal translations of all matter in parallel columns.

Women's Societies Used.
New York, March 11.—Agitators for the bolshevik and other radical organizations have turned to their advantage the "uplift" fund among certain New York society women, Francis S. Bangs, a New York lawyer, told the Women's Republican club here today. He urged women to lend their influence, which he said was great, "either for good or evil," to offsetting the bolshevik program.

Mr. Bangs declared that "designing, eloquent men" had used their power to persuade women to contribute to "who have nothing better to do with their money than spend it on bolshevik propaganda," and had attempted to introduce members of the Junior league, an organization of debutantes, into a school "whose leaders are radical I. W. W.'s."

OFFICIALS IN CHICAGO WATCH

Government officials here, in commenting upon the communication of Solicitor General Lamar to the senate propaganda committee on Monday, declared the propaganda efforts of the I. W. W. and kindred Red organizations are being carefully checked.

It became known that a number of Red publications have been denied the use of the mails. To get around this deliveries are being attempted by express and by automobile. Recently a New York bolshevik newspaper started shipping its propagandist literature to Chicago in trunks.

C. E. Payne, an I. W. W., is the present editor of the New Solidarity here, which Solicitor Lamar claims is one of the chief Red publications. It is printed at 1001 West Madison street. A number of other papers in various languages, all of the same radical tendencies and having limited circulations, are also printed at that place. It was learned that Thomas Whitehead had been elected acting secretary to succeed "Big Bill" Haywood, now serving twenty years in the federal prison at Leavenworth, Kas., as a war obstructionist.

Named by Lamar.
Inquiry yesterday developed that the following are editors of the publications named by Solicitor Lamar as spreading Red propaganda from Chicago: Nyu Variden (Swedish), John Sandgren, La Nueva Solidaridad (Spanish), Frank J. Gustaf, A. Feleznabuldas (Hungarian), Andro Newman, Golos Truzenka (Russian), A. Sanokur, Il Nuovo Proletariato (Italian), Angelo Fagari, Der Industrial Arbeiter (Yiddish), Philip Kurinsky, One Big Union (English monthly), John Sandgren.

Some of the contributors to the publications, it was learned, are H. P. Herzberg, A. H. Price, Covington Aml, Harold L. Varney, Justus Ebert, N. Bucharin, Louis Meiks, Amy Oliver, Walker C. Smith, and Harrison George.

Must Submit Copies.
For some months past the radical papers desiring use of the mails have been forced to submit copies of their editions in advance of sending them broadcast. Where objectionable articles are found they are censored. Since the conviction of Haywood and his ninety-two associates for conspiracy against the United States, the Red publications have been tamer, the federal authorities here say.

A pole-cat on a highway may get more of the world's attention than a violet on a mossy bank—but it is not the kind of attention that creates the desire to possess. Good advertising is not always a matter of blatant copy and giant space.

MAYOR ADMITS DEFEAT, CLAIMS SWEITZER MAN

Capt. Porter Tells Why
Republicans Should Aid Democrat.

From the Sweitzer Business Men's Nonpartisan club last night came a criticism of the efforts of Mayor Thompson to drag national politics into the mayoralty fight. Capt. George Hull, Porter, independent Republican and secretary of the club, put forth the following:

"When Mayor Thompson tries to raise national issues in a city campaign he is simply giving proof that his cause is hopeless. He apparently realizes that thousands of Republicans have made up their mind to support Mr. Sweitzer.

Quotes Mayor's Words.

"The mayor states that his election would be greeted as a harbinger of Republican victory in 1920. As a Republican I feel that nothing would be more harmful to the Republican party than a victory for Mayor Thompson at the present time. Such a result would place him in a position of party leadership which he does not now possess in spite of the fact that he is national committeeman.

"This would mean that the national party would be obliged to carry the load of Thompsonism and that thousands of men who otherwise would vote the Republican ticket would be driven from the party because Thompson was among its leaders. The national leaders of the party have already given evidence that they feared a victory for Thompson and were anxious for his elimination."

Lambros for Sweitzer.

Peter S. Lambros, a Republican, editor of the Greek Star and leader of the Greeks of Chicago in war time activities, sent a letter to Mr. Sweitzer pledging him his support.

"Through I am a Republican," wrote Mr. Lambros, "and a publisher of a Republican newspaper and vice president of the Twenty-fifth Ward Republican club, nevertheless by declaring myself in favor of your candidacy I merely show the courage of my convictions. I don't see how it can be a breach of promise to the Republican party, more so when everybody is doing it now—some in the open and some on the quiet behind the scenes—so as to get rid of Thompsonism and to redeem the good name of the Republican party and the spirit of Chicago."

Discharged by Court, He Slaps Wife; Rearrested

As Charles Gregory, 5460 Greenwood street, and his wife were leaving Judge Harry Fisher's court yesterday, after being discharged, Gregory slapped his wife. He was immediately placed under arrest by a bailiff. Judge Fisher adjudged Gregory in contempt of court. Gregory, his wife, their daughter, Irma, and Sam Kostakes, 746 East Forty-seventh street, were arrested Feb. 26. Judge Fisher remitted a $200 fine on the mother and daughter on condition that they would go to Canada before May 8.

MONDELL NAMED AS FLOOR LEADER IN NEXT HOUSE

Washington, D. C., March 11.—[Special.]—Representative Frank W. Mondell of Wyoming will be the Republican floor leader in the next house. He was elected by the Republican committee on committees today following the selection of Representative Mann of Illinois, who promptly declined to serve.

In declining the honor Mr. Mann said that by reason of his long and active service in the house he had every reason to expect the speakership as a reward. He said he intended to do his full part on the floor, but that he would conserve his health and felt he was no longer called upon to do the drudgery involved in the floor leadership.

A steering committee was selected consisting of Representative Mondell, chairman; Madden of Illinois, Dunn of New York, Moore of Pennsylvania, Winslow of Massachusetts, and Longworth of Ohio. Mondell, Madden, Dunn, and Moore were for Mann in the speakership contest, while Winslow and Longworth were for Representative Gillett, the successful aspirant. The Mann forces continued their domination of the committee on committees. Representative Knutson of Minnesota was named as Republican whip. He also was a Mann supporter. He was elected over Representative Vestal of Indiana and McArthur of Oregon.

the thirty-five wards. The men beat the women in only twelve of the wards. In every residential ward in the city yesterday the women left the men far behind. This was considered significant, as the women, the leaders pointed out, were true blue all the way through the trying days of the war.

Labor Takes Some Credit.

At the same time the Labor party leaders took some credit to themselves and held that the record smashing yesterday the women left the men far behind. This was considered significant, as the women, the leaders pointed out, were true blue all the way through the trying days of the war.

Twenty-fifth Banner Ward.

Of the increase over the enrollment of four years ago of 38,987, it was seen by the figures that three big residential wards yesterday contributed approximately 26,500. These are the Seventh, Twenty-fifth, and Twenty-seventh.

The Twenty-fifth ward was the banner ward yesterday, with 7,322 enrollment—4,503 women and 3,329 men—bringing the total enrollment up to 47,524 for April 1, as against 38,194 four years ago.

The Thirty-third ward gets third place with an enrollment of 6,256—3,354 women and 2,922 men, making a total for April 1 of 38,574, as against 31,219 four years ago.

And so it went throughout all the residential wards—a landslide for some one.

Hoynes Manager Talks.

When the totals were tabulated late last night James S. Hoynes, manager for Macley Hoynes, gave out the following statement:

"The unexpected turn out of voters from one end of the city to the other proves two things—first, that the independent voters of Chicago are aroused and intend to vote for Mr. Hoynes on election day, and second, that we were making a quite accurate forecast when we predicted a registration of more than 125,000 men and women voters. The election commission's figures, I believe, were in the neighborhood of 60,000. The fact that more women than men registered is a significant fact—one that should cause the managers of the Thompson-Sweitzer entry to worry."

Mr. Hoynes himself said:

"It is swinging almost too soon. This is the tip over and the tidal wave cannot be stopped. I will be elected the next mayor of Chicago."

PARTY LEADERS BACK THOMPSON AGAINST PRESS

Galpin Sends Out
Handbill Attacking
Newspapers.

The Republican county committee, which is to manage Mayor Thompson's campaign, in addition to playing up national issues, will go along with the mayor in his attacks on the newspapers according to the first hand bills issued under the new management.

The mayor opens his speaking campaign tonight in Belmont hall, Clark street and Belmont avenue. All the city candidates on the Republican ticket are scheduled to appear on the same platform with "his honor."

The hand bills announcing the meeting, the first printed since Chairman Homer K. Galpin of the county committee took over the mayor's campaign, carry this "slogan":

"By voting for Mayor William Hale Thompson you fight the commercialized newspapers who cheat the school children and lie to you!"

Some Candidates Talk.

Some of the candidates on the ticket with the mayor are reported to have talked at making their campaign on this issue, but not all of them. For the "full dinner pail" and "prosperity" issues with which the county committee intends to make much hay from now until April 1.

In keeping national issues to the front the managers are planning to import speakers of national reputation for the red fire windup of the campaign the last ten days.

Among those who already have been invited to take the stump for Mayor Thompson and rattle the dinner pail are Congressman-elect Richard Yates, Congressman William E. Mason, and Col. Frank L. Smith, congressman-elect and state chairman of the Republican central committee of Illinois.

Yates to Take Stump.

At the Thompson headquarters yesterday it was announced that former Gov. Yates had accepted the invitation and would make several speeches in the mayoralty battle, if present plans are carried out.

Michael Faherty, president of the board of local improvements, was the first to hand in a requisition for Yates. He had asked that the mayor be sent to one of his meetings. He was told that he could have Yates for that meeting, if everything went all right.

"All right," said Mr. Faherty, "send me Yates. He will fill the bill for my crowd. I think I would rather have Yates than the mayor for a real old stemwinding speech. Yates will give us an overflow meeting. Give us Yates and you won't hear any kick out of our crowd."

Congressman-elect Smith has not yet replied to the invitation sent him, but the managers are confident he will accept and will take the stump for Thompson.

An effort will be made to have former Gov. Devos make at least one speech before the campaign ends.

IN THE POLITICAL POT

A nonpartisan lawyers' committee has been organized to promote the candidacy of Judge John M. O'Connor for reelection to the Superior court bench. Among the lawyers who have signed the appeal are Alfred S. Austrian, Francis X. Busch, Daniel L. Cruick, Clarence S. Darrow, Edward F. Dunne, Mitchell D. Follansbee, S. S. Gregory, Charles H. Hamill, Frank Hamill, Thomas E. Lantry, Rowell B. Mason, John S. Miller, Quin O'Brien, Robert Redfield, James Rosenthal, William H. Sexton, Ralph M. Shaw, Edgar B. Tolman, and Spencer L. Adams.

An independent straw vote taken in the Insurance Exchange building yesterday and announced at Hoynes's headquarters showed the following result: Thompson, 128; Sweitzer, 136; Hoynes, 161; Fitzpatrick, 4; Collins, 1.

Henry Kaul, present mayor of Forest Park, was renominated for that office by the Good Government party at the primaries held yesterday. There were four candidates for the nomination and Kaul was nominated with a plurality of 171 votes over H. J. Mohr.

Miles J. Devine and Edward M. Cummings, president and secretary respectively of the Cook County Democratic party, issued a statement denouncing Robert C. Sullivan and his "rubber stamp candidate."

What Baby's Mouth Proves About Your Mouth

A BABY'S toothless mouth is alkaline, not acid—unless the baby is sick. Teeth don't cause acid but merely form a lodging place for things that can.

Therefore—acidity of the mouth can be avoided by keeping the teeth clean and keeping well. Drugs are not necessary, cleanliness is.

That's why the American public is avoiding dentifrices that claim to cure acidity, pyorrhea and other abnormal mouth conditions and choosing the safety of cleanliness represented by Dr. Lyon's. It cleans and polishes without any danger of the misapplication of drugs. It contains none.

Accountants Bookkeepers
Office Men Stenographers Cashiers

I want to hear from capable applicants, either with or without bookkeeping experience, who are ambitious to get into higher accounting positions.

Our organization, with the largest staff of accounting and business efficiency experts in the world, and with representatives throughout the United States, can meet only to a very limited degree the numerous calls being made for high-grade accountants, cost accountants, auditors, junior and senior accountants. Government and business demands have exhausted the supply of trained men available.

The readjustment of commerce and industry to a peace basis; the reconstruction and reorganization of American business along more efficient lines; the more scientific analysis of costs to meet domestic and world competition.

and the necessity for accurate income and excess profit tax reports to the government; have created thousands of new and attractive opportunities for permanent positions in the higher accounting field.

Men and women who desire to qualify can do so during spare time while holding their present position. Accepted applicants will be placed under the direct supervision of one of our staff of Certified Public Accountants and trained in the special knowledge and practical procedure necessary to qualify for important accounting work.

A present knowledge of bookkeeping is desirable but not required. No interviews will be granted except to those who state in writing their business experience, present position, education, and possible telephone number. All information confidential.

HOYNE TO MAKE FIRST CAMPAIGN SPEECH TODAY

Will Continue on the Stump Nightly from Now On.

State's Attorney Macloy Hoyne will open his speaking campaign today noon at the Hotel La Salle, when he addresses the Women's Hoyne for Mayor organization.

Beginning next Monday night he will start on a tour of the wards and will be on the stump nightly. One week later, beginning March 24, he will double up, doing both a noonday and night stunt on the stump. The noon meetings will be held in the theaters, and Mr. Hoyne promised last night that he would "burn up" things when he hits the homestead stride. "I shall talk in every ward in the city," he said, "and will speak at the noonday meetings right up to election day, if my voice holds out, and I think it will. We are going to wake up Chicago in this battle, and we are going to do straight fighting all the way."

Women to Be Speakers.
At today's noon women's meeting Mrs. Marie Louise Barrett will preside. Besides Mr. Hoyne and Clarence Darow, addresses will be made by Mrs. Theresa Birmingham, Mrs. Addie Farrar Inman, Mrs. John O'Connor, former president of the Chicago Women's club, Mrs. Susan L. Jenks, Miss Florence King, Miss Nellie Carlin, Mrs. Gertrude Howe Britton, and Miss Laura Abel. Mrs. David Hill Danek is chairman of the committee on arrangements.

Richberg Aids Hoyne.
Donald Richberg, representing the progressive forces of the city, last night issued an appeal to the independent voters to join Mr. Hoyne in saving Chicago from the "disgrace of another Thompson administration." "For twenty-five years," the statement reads, "the Sullivan gang has degraded the politics of Chicago. The first and last time Sullivan had a mayor he put over the infamous Ogden Gas deal, to pay for which the gas consumers of Chicago are still being taxed over $600,000 a year in excessive gas rates."

"I have been fighting the Sullivan gang for over three years as special counsel for the city in gas matters. When their apologists assert that such political mercenaries are honest and that their word is good, permit me to laugh. It is a bitter joke."

Worked with Thompson.
"I know personally that the Sullivan gang worked in close cooperation with the Thompson crowd to defeat the public. I know personally that these two disreputable gangs fought against me and my work for the city with foul and contemptible tactics. Poisonous rumors and scandalous slanders are the favorite methods of attacking those who seek to render honest public service."

"The Thompson gang seeks to control the city for four years more. Has the Sullivan gang attempted to 'redeem Chicago' by putting up the strongest possible candidate who could make an honest appeal to free Democrats and independent voters?"

"On the contrary, after getting a city contract from the Thompson administration worth nearly $7,000,000 they have put up their weakest man, Sullivan's pliant relative, Sweitzer, to be beaten."

"I am sure that reputable citizens do not desire to lend respectability to knavery, but they ought to know more about the persons whom they ask self-respecting voters to support. Thompson has put a stain upon Chicago in the last four years. The Sullivan gang has muddled the city with rotten municipal politics for a generation. Chicago's hands are soiled, but of what use is it to wash them in dirty water?"

Hoyne Faithful to Public.
"Macloy Hoyne is fighting on the square to save Chicago from the disgrace of four years more of Luntin-Thompson-Sullivan-Sweitzer government. No one need apologize for supporting him. Those who agree or disagree with his methods of fighting for public rights can join in his present campaign with the comforting assurance that their candidate's hands are clean and that his purposes are honest. He has a long record as a hard hitting, faithful servant of the public."

Wins Nomination for Mayor with Only Three Votes.
James Oakley Koontz won a peculiar victory at the primaries in West Hammond yesterday and isn't happy. He was running for the nomination for mayor on the Democratic ticket. He won by three votes. It must be stated, however, that he was the only candidate on that ticket, also that there were 1,400 votes cast, and he got three of them; also that one of them was cast in his own ward. Paul M. Kamradt was nominated on the People's ticket. The other nominees on that ticket are Andrew Stachowicz, city clerk; Rudolph Berau, city treasurer; Fred Bervanger, alderman, First ward; Anthony Ryborczyk, alderman, Second ward; Felix Moldzowski, alderman, Third ward, and Fred Spelling, alderman, Fourth ward.

'TRIBUNE' STRAW BALLOT SHOWS MAYOR LEADING

Analysis of Vote Not Encouraging to Him, However.

THE TRIBUNE presents to its readers herewith the first returns on a straw vote for mayor. On the surface the campaign thus far is quiet, but beneath strong undercurrents of sentiment are running, and with a view of fathoming what is in the minds of the voters THE TRIBUNE has undertaken a systematic canvass of the city, following the completion of the registration. Every effort will be made to make the straw poll a miniature of the vote that will be registered April 1—it will not be a hit-or-miss canvass, but ballots collected at random, but the purpose is to make it representative of the manifold elements and factors which will participate in the battle of the ballots next month. It will be an analytical survey, as far as experts on politics can make it so.

Some Tendencies Shown.
Interesting tendencies are indicated in the first installment of the straw vote returns as given in an adjoining column. They were collected in widely scattered precincts, in Republican and Democratic strongholds, in industrial sections, and in residential districts.

On the surface Mayor Thompson is in the lead on the first batch of ballots. Out of a total of 3,101 votes gathered the mayor has 1,347; Robert M. Sweitzer has 1,231; Macloy Hoyne, independent nonpartisan candidate, has 344, and John Fitzpatrick, nominee of the Labor party, has 143. Collins, the Socialist, has a handful.

Mayor Thompson thus has a plurality of 116 votes on the first batch of ballots. To throw it into percentages, the mayor has 43.4 per cent of the ballots, Sweitzer 39.7 per cent, Hoyne 11 per cent, and Fitzpatrick 4.6 per cent.

Comparison Shows Change.
But when compared with the returns of the mayoralty election of 1915 they disclose some interesting tendencies.

Running down the table, the first returns are from the Second ward, which by virtue of the Negro vote has been a Thompson stronghold. Politicians have been wondering whether the mayor's strength among the Negroes has been diminishing. The straw vote

RESULTS IN "TRIBUNE" STRAW VOTE

HERE is a tabulation of figures representing TRIBUNE mayoralty straw ballots collected in widely scattered districts of the city, and embracing both Republican and Democratic territory. The figures also embrace some of the Negro vote of the Second ward; they indicate how the persons of the residential districts of the Thirtieth, Eighteenth, Twenty-first, and Thirty-fifth wards are likely to vote, and the industrial workers' voting is indicated by ballots taken from men at the steel mills of South Chicago, in the Eighth ward.

The figures under the headings "Thompson," "Sweitzer," "Hoyne," and "Fitzpatrick," etc., mean that the number of voters indicated they will "switch" their ballots from the former, whom they voted for four years ago, to the latter mentioned, whom they state they will vote for on election day this year.

fails to indicate it. Indeed, where Thompson carried the Second not quite three to one against Sweitzer four years ago, the straw ballots give him a lead of about five to one.

Next on the list is the Eighth ward, an industrial center, where the South Chicago vote went to Thompson four years ago nearly two to one over Sweitzer. The straw ballots indicate a great falling off of the rolling mill vote from Thompson, and the beneficiaries are Sweitzer and Hoyne, who together get more votes than the mayor. Mr. Fitzpatrick, Labor candidate, does not appear to be running very strong in this section.

Thirteenth for Sweitzer.
Next on the list is the Thirteenth ward, Sweitzer's home, which he managed to carry four years ago by only 231 votes. The straw ballots show him running three times as fast as the mayor.

The Eighteenth ward looms up, a west side Democratic stronghold, which Thompson lost by only 632 votes four years ago. The straw vote shows Thompson running third. Sweitzer is polling twice as many votes as the mayor, and Hoyne likewise has distanced Mr. Thompson.

In the twenty-first ward, which is always debatable territory and is neither out-and-out Republican or Democratic territory, Thompson won four years ago by 1150 plurality. The straw vote this time indicates that he is falling behind Sweitzer who has a two to one vote.

The straw ballots in the Thirty-fifth ward are not without possible significance. Thompson carried this Democratic ward in 1915 by 3,500. The straw ballots place him this time behind Mr. Sweitzer.

The "Switches," too, are not breaking in the mayor's favor apparently. Many of the voters indicate on the straw ballot how they voted four years ago. Of these 146 have switched from Thompson to some other candidate and 126 have gone from Sweitzer to another. On this batch of ballots Sweitzer has lost 70 votes which have gone to Hoyne, but Thompson has lost 71 votes which would have been marked for Sweitzer. Of the switches Hoyne has taken 54 votes which went to Thompson four years ago.

Taking out the figures from the Eighteenth ward, where by reason of the Democratic factional groups Sweitzer naturally loses more to Hoyne than does Thompson, Mr. Hoyne appears to be cutting about equally into the Thompson and Sweitzer strength. As to the switches to Mr. Fitzpatrick, Thompson loses 41 and Sweitzer 31.

The tabulation of THE TRIBUNE straw vote will be printed daily.

VACCINATION OF REVERE HOUSE GUESTS ORDERED

A request was made last night for a policeman to accompany Dr. Ben L. Reiman and Dr. W. H. Meyers of the health department to the Revere house, a theatrical hotel at 415 North Clark street, to complete the vaccination of all guests and employees at the hotel, where three persons were found suffering from small pox.

The sick men, who were taken to the contagious disease hospital, are Frank Zollenbach, an acrobat; John Powers, a "straight" actor, and George Pepper, a juggler who appeared at the Rialto theater last week.

Pepper, who was the last one afflicted with the disease, was asked to tell all the places he had visited, and the physicians went over the route vaccinating all persons with whom he might have come in contact.

Employees of two restaurants, all the actors and actresses appearing on the same bill with him were vaccinated.

MILK MEN WILL BE TRIED APR. 21 IN COOK COUNTY

The officials of the Milk Producers' association, who were indicted a year ago last February on charges of conspiracy to fix the price of milk, will go on trial April 21, and they will go on trial in Cook county.

Judge Martin Gridley attended to these details yesterday, denying a motion made by Attorney Charles S. Deenen, for a change of venue from Cook county. Mr. Deenen asserted his clients could not get a fair trial in this county.

The defendants are Charles H. Potter, William J. Kittle, Arnold Ruber, Frank H. Reese, W. A. Goodwin, Robert M. O'Hann, Roy Lewis, and Clinton Cooper.

State's Attorney Macloy Hoyne smiled when he was informed of the victory. He believes the reduction in the price of milk is due to the fact that his office has been keeping up the fight. The state's attorney's investigation began when the price of milk started upward shortly after the war. The grand jury acted, but the intervention of federal officials, who fixed a definite price for the sale of milk, halted the prosecution. Mr. Hoyne started to push the case to trial immediately after the signing of the armistice.

BOMBERS MURDER STOREKEEPER.
New York, March 11.—Two armed robbers robbed the candy store of Samuel Wolchok in Brooklyn this afternoon and one of them shot and killed the proprietor when he refused to hold his hands up and permit them to loot the store. The man escaped.

Keep Looking Young

It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—stipples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that exuberance of spirit, that natural buoyancy which should be enjoyed by everyone, by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities. You will know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets by their olive color, 10c and 25c per bottle. All druggists.

U. S. WARRANTS TO AID RAILWAYS IS FINANCE PLAN

Elliott Heads Committee to Provide Funds for Companies.

Washington, D. C., March 11.—Railroad executives and government representatives today laid the foundation for the machinery through which loans of banks and the war finance corporation will be made available to railroads during the next few months in lieu of the funds which congress failed to provide.

After conferences between a number of leading railway corporation officers and officials of the war finance corporation and railroad administration, a special finance committee of seven, headed by Howard Elliott, president of the Northern Pacific, was created by the railroad executives to cooperate with government agencies as a clearing house for financing arrangements.

Shirley to Head Financing. Swastor Shorley of Louisville, who has just retired after serving sixteen years in the house of representatives, recently as chairman of the house appropriations committee, was appointed by Director General Hines as director of the railroad administration's division of finance, succeeding John Skelton Williams, resigned. On Mr. Shorley, who will take office April 16, will fall much of the work of administering the financial plans yet to be developed.

An important feature of the financial mechanics of the arrangements to be made may be the issuance by the railroad administration of government warrants to railroads for the amounts due them on settlements of last year's accounts and other debts.

To Serve as Collateral. These warrants, virtually certificates of indebtedness, would not be cashed until congress appropriates funds at the next session, but would serve as collateral for loans. The loans would be arranged by each railroad company individually with its bankers, or in special cases with the war finance corporation.

The railway executives' special committee together with the railroad administration's financial agencies would facilitate the negotiation and distribution of these loans. Companies whose financial strength was not great might be helped by the railroad administration, which will get some funds through repayment by railroads of advances already made to them.

Plan Yet Undeveloped. These plans were outlined today by Director General Hines and the railway executives, but it was emphasized that final plans remain to be made. Railroad administration and war finance corporation officials will confer tomorrow with Secretary Glass of the treasury, and Thursday Mr. Hines will discuss the financial situation with railroad car and locomotive builders and with the executives' committee.

Although no bankers participated directly in the conferences today they will be consulted informally by the executives and railroad administration officials. A number of prominent bankers were here to confer privately with railroad heads.

Prefer Heads with Credit. It appears probable that the war finance corporation will try to limit its

MISS RUTH SANDERS.

The engagement of George F. Thomson, former Chicago newspaper man, and Miss Ruth Sanders of Evanston, was announced yesterday by the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert D. Sanders of Evanston and East Hampton, Mass. Thomson has just returned from Europe, where he served as a lieutenant in the royal air force. He was a prisoner of the Germans for six months.

The couple met while they were attending Northwestern university. Both graduated in 1914. Thomson is a member of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity. His home is in Craig, Mo. Miss Sanders, who is taking post-graduate work at Northwestern, belongs to the Alpha Phi sorority. Thomson will go east shortly to become secretary for Dr. A. W. Harris, former president of Northwestern and now secretary of the board of education of the Methodist Episcopal church.

loans to railroad corporations with ample credit, without reference to the government warrants as collateral, and every effort will be made by the government agencies to encourage bankers to take up most of the loans required. At the same time the railroad administration will try to establish a large degree of uniformity in interest rates. This will be facilitated by the potential resources of the war finance corporation.

Secretary Glass at the conference tomorrow is expected to emphasize the desire of the treasury to keep railroad securities off the market until after the Victory Liberty loan, which probably will close May 10. This can be done through negotiating short term bank loans.

Balance of Committee. The other members of the finance committee named are Albert H. Harris, vice president of the New York Central; Robert S. Lovett, president of the Union Pacific; Samuel Rea, president of the Pennsylvania; Henry Ruhoff, president of the Frisco; Henry Walters, chairman of the Atlantic Coast line, and Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore and Ohio.

WILSON TO OUST CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION?

Capital Hears That He Asked Them to Resign.

(By a Staff Correspondent.) Washington, D. C., March 11.—(Special.)—Reports were current in Washington tonight that President Wilson had determined upon complete reorganization of the civil service commission and that he had sent wireless messages from the steamship George Washington, requesting the resignations of the two remaining members of the commission, Charles M. Galloway and Herman W. Craven.

Full confirmation of the report could not be obtained, but it was learned that Commissioner Galloway had sought to obtain signatures of Secretary Daniels, Senator Overman of North Carolina, and several other members of congress to a petition to the president asking him to withhold final action with reference to reorganization of the commission until he could be given a hearing.

Leader Already Out. Investigation of the report led to disclosure of the fact that John A. McIlhenny, president of the commission, had voluntarily resigned several weeks ago and had been appointed by the president to be financial adviser to Haiti. Mr. McIlhenny tonight said that he had already accepted the appointment as fiscal adviser to Haiti and that he had heard nothing about the requested resignations of Commissioners Craven and Galloway.

Admits He Got Wireless. Commissioner Galloway admitted tonight that he had been a wireless communication from President Wilson relating to the civil service commission and that he had consulted members of congress about it, but he would not discuss the nature of the communication.

"I am in no position to say anything," said Commissioner Galloway, "until something has come from the White House officially." Commissioner Galloway was told, "that the president has asked for the resignations of yourself and Commissioner Craven."

"Well, I can't say anything about the matter," he replied. "If you can get anything from the White House about it, perhaps I shall have something to say."

For some time there have been reports that the members of the commission had been involved in serious differences among themselves and that this led to the voluntary retirement of President McIlhenny, whose place has not been filled by the president.

MEXICO INSISTS ON PAYMENT AT ONCE OF OIL TAX

Carranza Demand May Revive Friction with U. S.

(By a Staff Correspondent.) Washington, D. C., March 11.—(Special.)—Dwing to the insistence of President Carranza that the oil "royalty tax" for January and February of this year be collected, the entire Mexican oil trouble is likely to assume a critical stage again, according to officials here today.

The state department has just been advised from Mexico that Carranza has taken the stand that these "royalty taxes" be collected in full at once despite his assurance given last year that the whole matter would remain in abeyance until the Mexican congress has acted on a proposed law which is acceptable to the United States, Great Britain, and France.

Recognizes Title to Land. In this law the title to property owned in Mexico by foreigners is recognized and protected, although foreigners may not acquire any more holdings in that country.

In February, 1918, Carranza issued a decree imposing a "royalty tax" upon the petroleum properties in Mexico. The use of the word "royalty" was objected to strongly by the United States government because of the definite implication that the title to the properties affected rested in the government instead of in the owners who had purchased outright the properties under the laws of Mexico.

No Effort to Collect. Because of these objections no effort was made by the Mexican government to collect the taxes. But last December Carranza issued another decree ordering these "royalty taxes" to be collected "in kind." This meant that the oil companies must pay as "royalty taxes" a large percentage of their production to the Mexican government.

Protests were also filed to this, and again Carranza agreed that nothing should be done until the Mexican congress had acted.

I. W. W. Plot in Mexico. New York, March 11.—(Special.)—At a meeting tonight of the council of foreign relations William Gates, who has just returned from a 1,500 mile trip through Mexico, said Mexico today was a parallel to Russia, and added that Carranza was destroying and selling out Mexico to any one who would buy.

Mr. Gates said the I. W. W. in Mexico had established a revolutionary confederation, its avowed object being to overthrow the bourgeoisie, the capitalist, land monopolist, etc. A formal agreement was signed Feb. 17 by a committee of I. W. W. and the chief of the Carranza cabinet, according to Mr. Gates. By its terms the constitutional government is to enact the necessary syndicalist legislation and members of the I. W. W. are to be designated as unmobilized soldiers for garrison duty or for whatever is necessary to overthrow the capitalist state. The council has appointed a committee of prominent men to hold open hearings in New York "to reveal the truth regarding conditions in Mexico today."

AIMS BLOW AT CIVIL SERVICE POLITICAL BODY

BY E. O. PHILLIPS. Springfield, Ill., March 11.—(Special.)—The inside purpose of the provision of the Cook county civil service bill directed against political activity of county employees was disclosed tonight by a state official who knows what the pending Barbour bill means. It seeks to end the activities of civil service employees in organizing an independent body of 20,000 to 25,000 public servants.

The bill seeks to restrict the civil service men and women, as a body, from any effort to control the nomination or election of members of the legislature or of other officials who have anything to do with the enforcement of the civil service law or the several pension funds.

Interest is added by the political complications that seem to have arisen. The understanding tonight is that the Barbour bill is to be recalled to second reading in the senate and amendments offered.

Tomorrow the annihilation of the state civil service act will be up for a hearing before the house civil service committee. At 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon the house judiciary committee will take up the anti-injunction bill. John H. Walker, president of the state federation of labor, will speak for the bill. Representative Miller of Champaign prevented the transaction of any business in the house today when he raised the point of no quorum.

Congressman Ira C. Copley of Aurora is expected to arrive tomorrow morning to look over the ground preliminarily to a possible announcement of his candidacy for the Republican nomination for United States senator.

Wauegan Holds Primary to Pick City Officials. Wauegan nominated its majority candidates yesterday. J. F. Biderger will be the commission government candidate, receiving 1,699 votes. The city manager plan government nomination went to Fred W. Buck with a total of 1,299 votes. Samuel Schwartz won the Independent nomination, receiving 1,296 votes.

Carl Atterbury, J. V. Valz, R. V. Orsala, and Peter McDermott are the candidates for commissioners on the commission government ticket. Commissioners nominated on the city manager plan government ticket are Dilharz, W. F. Wandel, and S. A. Hawthorne.

When Your Heart's in Your Mouth—

Then is when Tire Chains prove their Real value—they add so much to your brake power. Without them brakes would be useless.

It's these unexpected emergencies that make a driver think quick and act like lightning. When suddenly the children dash out from the pavement and are almost under your wheels before you realize it—you instinctively jam down your foot-brake and frantically grab the emergency.

What if your brakes slipped and didn't hold? Wouldn't the consequences be awful? It's positively criminal for a driver of a motor car to overlook even the slightest safety precaution. Unquestionably the most effective supplementary addition to brake power when the roads and pavements are wet and slippery, is in the use of

WEED TIRE CHAINS

Cars with chainless tires on wet-greasy slippery pavements lack brake power to the same degree as they would if their brake linings were made of wet-greasy-slippery bands of rubber.

Wet rubber slips—never grips. It slides like a cake of soap on moistened hands. It lacks the bite and hang-on ability of chains.

Good brakes and Weed Tire Chains are undoubtedly the greatest factor in preventing motor accidents.

CHURCH LEAGUE TO INCLUDE ALL NORTH AMERICA

Unity Could Have Made the War Impossible, Says Pastor.

BY THE REV. W. B. NORTON.

"If the allies had been as divided in fighting the Kaiser as the churches have been in fighting the devil, the Kaiser would have wiped us off the face of the earth."

This was the way the Rev. H. E. Peabody of Appleton, Wis., formerly pastor of the South Congregational church, Chicago, explained the inter-church world movement, which closed a three day session yesterday at the Hotel La Salle.

The findings of the conference were presented by the Rev. W. F. Rothenburger of Springfield, Ill., chairman of the committee, in which the purpose of the interchurch world movement was declared to be "To mobilize the whole Protestant constituency of North America, with all its material, organizational, and spiritual resources, for a united and continuous effort to Christianize the whole world, thus realizing the vision of our Lord."

Could Have Blocked War.

Other declarations of the report were, in summary: "A united church would have prevented the war. The success of the united leadership of the allied cause has taught the churches the need of unified action. The league of nations will be only a parchment without Jesus Christ. The united church must have a higher estimate of its resources in men and money, and must throw out a more heroic challenge for support of a world program."

"The church," the report said, "was never so alive as it is today—and the world task by the united church is most timely and the resources are abundant, able for its accomplishment."

The full statement concerning the league of nations was: "That, though we have the utmost confidence in the formation of a league of nations around the council table at Versailles, and in the final acquiescence in the tabulated conditions of universal peace among the belligerent nations, the ultimate assurance of a lasting and universal peace will rest not upon parchment agreements but upon the acquiescence of the hearts of men and the souls of nations in the brotherhood principles of Jesus Christ."

In answer to a question from the floor as to whether the findings of the committee committed the conference to the acceptance of the present form of the league of nations, Fred B. Smith of New York, who was conducting the conference, said: "It does not. Nothing has been said during the conference by any one which is to be taken as an acquiescence in the form, but simply in the principle of a league."

Views on Prohibition.

Mr. Smith said, concerning the attitude of the interchurch world movement toward prohibition of the liquor traffic: "If the interchurch world movement puts the soft pedal on prohibition, let us strangle it at once."

The following state representatives were elected correspondents to lead in the forming of state federations: Illinois, Howard Agnew Johnston, Chicago; Michigan, D. D. Spellman, Detroit; Indiana, Thomas C. Howe, Indianapolis; Wisconsin, Judson Ross, Bush, Appleton; Minnesota, E. J. Cooper, Minneapolis; Iowa, Clyde R. Joy, Keokuk.

There were 557 delegates from seven denominations, representing twenty-three states, present, and an attendance of over 4,000 at the various sessions. Eight states officially constituted the regional conference.

In the closing address of the conference Dr. F. W. Gunsaulus said Germany had evicted Christ from its theology.

"This aspect of German theology cannot be blinked at by the Christian church," he said. "Any one who takes Jesus Christ from his throne is guilty of treason."

Dr. John Timothy Stone and L. Wilbur Messer made addresses at the morning session.

THE AUTOBIOGRAPHY OF THEODORE ROOSEVELT

INSTALLMENT LI.

ONE of the vital questions with which as president I had to deal was the attitude of the nation toward the great corporations. Men who understand and practice the deep underlying philosophy of the Lincoln school of American political thought are necessarily Hamiltonian in their belief in a strong and efficient national government and Jeffersonian in their belief in the people as the ultimate authority, and in the welfare of the people as the end of government.

The men who first applied the extreme Democratic theory in American life were, like Jefferson, ultra individualists, for at that time what was demanded by our people was the largest liberty for the individual.

During the century that had elapsed since Jefferson became president there had been exactly reversed. There had been in our country a riot of individualistic materialism, under which complete freedom for the individual—that ancient license which President Wilson a century after the term was excusable has called the "New Freedom"—turned out in practice to mean perfect freedom of governmental control had led to portentous growth in the financial and industrial world both of natural individuals and of artificial individuals—that is, corporations.

In no other country in the world had so enormous fortunes been gained. In no other country in the world was such power held by the men who had gained these fortunes; and these men almost always worked through, and by means of, the giant corporations which they controlled. The power of the mighty industrial overlords of the country had increased with giant strides, while the methods of controlling them, or checking abuses by them, on the part of the people, through the government, remained archaic and therefore practically impotent.

The courts, not unnaturally, but most regretfully, and to the grave detriment of the people, and of their own standing, had for a quarter of a century been on the whole the agents of reaction, and by conflicting decisions which, however, in their sum were hostile to the interests of the people, had left both the nation and the several states well nigh impotent to deal with the great business combinations. Sometimes they forbade the nation to interfere, because of the rights of the states; sometimes they forbade the states to interfere (and often they were wise in this), because to do so would trespass on the rights of the nation; but always, or well nigh always, their action was negative action against the interests of the people.

They had rendered these decisions sometimes in the upholding of property rights against human rights, being especially zealous in securing the rights of the very men who were most competent to take care of themselves, and sometimes in the name of liberty, in the name of so-called "new freedom," in reality the old, old "freedom," which secured to the powerful the freedom to prey on the poor and helpless.

Hopeless Effort at Remedy.

One of the main troubles was the fact that the men who saw the evil and who tried to remedy them attempted to work in two wholly different ways, and the great majority of them in a way that offered little promise of real betterment. They tried (by the Sherman law method) to bolster up an individualism already proved to be both futile and mischievous; to remedy by more individualism the concentration that was the inevitable result of the already existing individualism. They tried the evil done by the big combinations and sought to remedy it by destroying them and restoring the country to the economic conditions of the middle of the nineteenth century.

This was a hopeless effort, and those who went into it, although they rendered themselves as radical progressives, really represented a form of sincere rural Toryism. They confounded monopolies with big business combinations, and in the effort to prohibit both alike, instead of where possible prohibiting one and drastically controlling the other, they succeeded merely in preventing any effective control of either.

On the other hand, a few men recognized that corporations and combinations had become indispensable in the business world, that it was folly to try to prohibit them, but that it was also folly to leave them without thoroughgoing control.

They realized that the government must now interfere to protect labor, to subordinate the big corporation to the public welfare, and to shackle cunning and fraud.

The big reactionaries of the business world and their allies and instruments among politicians and newspaper editors took advantage of this division of opinion, and especially of the fact that most of their opponents were on the wrong path; and fought to keep matters absolutely unchanged. These men demanded for themselves an immunity from governmental control which, if granted, would have been as wicked and as foolish as immunity to the barons of the twelfth century. Many of them were evil men. Many others were just as good men as were some of the other two great trusts in the country (aside from the Standard Oil trust, which was a gradual growth), had awakened a popular demand for legislation to destroy monopoly and curb industrial combinations. This demand the anti-trust law was intended to satisfy. The administrations of Mr. Harrison and Mr. Cleveland evidently construed this law as prohibiting such combinations in the future, not as condemning those which had been formed prior to its enactment.

In 1895, however, the sugar trust, which had originally been about 55 per cent of all sugar produced in the United States, obtained control of three other companies in Philadelphia by exchanging its stock for theirs, and thus increased its business until it controlled 95 per cent of the entire product. Under Cleveland, the government brought proceedings against the sugar trust, invoking the anti-trust law, to set aside its acquisition of these corporations. The test case was on the absorption of the Knight company. The Supreme court of the United States, with but one dissenting vote, held adversely to the government. They took the ground that the power conferred by the constitution to regulate and control interstate commerce did not extend to the production or manufacture of commodities within a state, and that nothing in the Sherman anti-trust law prohibited a corporation from acquiring all the stock of other corporations through exchange of its stock for theirs, such exchange not being "commerce" in the opinion of the court, even though by such acquisition the corporation was enabled to control the entire production of a commodity that was a necessary of life. The effect of this decision was not merely the absolute nullification of the anti-trust law, so far as industrial corporations were concerned, but was also in effect a declaration that, under the constitution, the national government could pass no law really effective for the destruction or control of such combinations.

This decision left the national government, that is, the people of the nation, practically helpless to deal with the large combinations of modern business. The courts in other cases asserted the power of the federal government to enforce the anti-trust law so far as transportation raising by railways engaged in interstate commerce were concerned. But so long as the trusts were free to control the production of commodities without interference from the general government, they were well content to let the transportation of commodities take care of itself—especially as the law against rebates was at that time a dead letter; and the court by its decision in the Knight case had interdicted any interference by the president or by congress with the production of commodities.

It was on the authority of this case that practically all the big trusts in the United States, excepting those already mentioned, were formed. Usually they were organized as "holding" companies, each one acquiring control of its constituent corporations by exchanging its stock for theirs, an operation which the Supreme court had thus decided could not be prohibited, controlled, regulated, or even questioned by the federal government.

Sherman Anti-Trust Law.

The Sherman anti-trust law was enacted in 1890 because the sugar trust, the tobacco trust and the oil trust, the only two great trusts then in the country (aside from the Standard Oil trust, which was a gradual growth), had awakened a popular demand for legislation to destroy monopoly and curb industrial combinations. This demand the anti-trust law was intended to satisfy. The administrations of Mr. Harrison and Mr. Cleveland evidently construed this law as prohibiting such combinations in the future, not as condemning those which had been formed prior to its enactment.

Question as to Control.

When I became president the question as to the method by which the United States government was to control the corporations was not yet important. The absolutely vital question was whether the government had power to control them at all. This question had not yet been decided in favor of the United States government. It was useless to discuss methods of controlling big business by the national government until it was definitely settled that the national government had the power to control it.

A decision of the Supreme court had, with seeming definiteness, settled that the national government had not the power. This decision I caused to be annulled by the court that had rendered it; and the present power of the national government to deal effectively with the trusts is due solely to the success of the administration in securing this reversal of its former decision by the Supreme court.

The constitution was formed very largely because it had become imperative to give to some central authority the power to regulate and control interstate commerce. At that time when corporations were in their infancy and big combinations unknown, there was no difficulty in exercising the power granted. In theory, the right of the nation to exercise this power continued unquestioned.

But changing conditions obscured the matter in the sight of the people as a whole, and the conscious and the unconscious advocates of an unlimited and uncontrollable capitalism gradually secured the whitening away of the national power to exercise this theoretical right of control until it practically vanished. After the civil war, with the portentous growth of industrial combinations in this country, came a period of reactionary decisions by the courts which, as regards corporations, culminated in what is known as the Knight case.

The Sherman anti-trust law was enacted in 1890 because the sugar trust, the tobacco trust and the oil trust, the only two great trusts then in the country (aside from the Standard Oil trust, which was a gradual growth), had awakened a popular demand for legislation to destroy monopoly and curb industrial combinations. This demand the anti-trust law was intended to satisfy. The administrations of Mr. Harrison and Mr. Cleveland evidently construed this law as prohibiting such combinations in the future, not as condemning those which had been formed prior to its enactment.

In 1895, however, the sugar trust, which had originally been about 55 per cent of all sugar produced in the United States, obtained control of three other companies in Philadelphia by exchanging its stock for theirs, and thus increased its business until it controlled 95 per cent of the entire product. Under Cleveland, the government brought proceedings against the sugar trust, invoking the anti-trust law, to set aside its acquisition of these corporations. The test case was on the absorption of the Knight company. The Supreme court of the United States, with but one dissenting vote, held adversely to the government. They took the ground that the power conferred by the constitution to regulate and control interstate commerce did not extend to the production or manufacture of commodities within a state, and that nothing in the Sherman anti-trust law prohibited a corporation from acquiring all the stock of other corporations through exchange of its stock for theirs, such exchange not being "commerce" in the opinion of the court, even though by such acquisition the corporation was enabled to control the entire production of a commodity that was a necessary of life. The effect of this decision was not merely the absolute nullification of the anti-trust law, so far as industrial corporations were concerned, but was also in effect a declaration that, under the constitution, the national government could pass no law really effective for the destruction or control of such combinations.

This decision left the national government, that is, the people of the nation, practically helpless to deal with the large combinations of modern business. The courts in other cases asserted the power of the federal government to enforce the anti-trust law so far as transportation raising by railways engaged in interstate commerce were concerned. But so long as the trusts were free to control the production of commodities without interference from the general government, they were well content to let the transportation of commodities take care of itself—especially as the law against rebates was at that time a dead letter; and the court by its decision in the Knight case had interdicted any interference by the president or by congress with the production of commodities.

It was on the authority of this case that practically all the big trusts in the United States, excepting those already mentioned, were formed. Usually they were organized as "holding" companies, each one acquiring control of its constituent corporations by exchanging its stock for theirs, an operation which the Supreme court had thus decided could not be prohibited, controlled, regulated, or even questioned by the federal government.

HIGH PRICES TO STAY, DECLARES YALE ECONOMIST

Irving Fisher Explains How New Level Has Been Fixed.

BY OSCAR E. HEWITT.
Irving Fisher, professor of political economy at Yale university, asserts the high price level has come to stay. It is permanent, in his judgment. He thinks it may go down a trifle in a year, perhaps, but then will continue on a plane far above the pre-war level. His views are being distributed by the department of commerce in the hope of stimulating private business.

On whether the general level of prices is bending downward, he says "it is not going to fall much, if at all." Continuing, he declares: "We are on a permanently high price level and the sooner the business men of the country take this view and adjust themselves to it, the sooner will they save themselves and the nation from the misfortune which will come, if we persist in our present false hope."

Face the Facts.
Prof. Fisher's advice is: "Business men should face the facts. To talk reverently of 1914 prices is to speak in a dead language today. The buyers of the country since the armistice have made an unexampled attack upon prices through their waiting attitude, and yet the price recessions have been insignificant. The reason is that we are on a high price level, which will be found a stubborn reality. Business men are going to find out that the clever man is not the man who waits, but the one who finds out the new price facts, and acts accordingly."

One of the immediate reasons for his conclusions he phrases as follows: "Against any considerable reduction in bank credit and hence in the general level of prices, we shall find the whole business community in arms. Falling prices mean hard times for the individual and for the nation and every one resists the tendency."

"Moreover, the hostile attitude of labor toward the lowering of wages will deter legislators and bankers from any organized policy of contraction."

Sees Greater Credits.
Prof. Fisher anticipates that after the April victory note issue there will be additional needs for reconstruction. On this point he says:

"But a portion of the April victory note issue will go to pay future expenditures, not accrued expenditures. Then, as soon as the government needs additional money, it will issue new treasury certificates, resulting in new extension of bank credit. Moreover, there is little doubt that there will be at least one more government bond issue during the reconstruction period, and this will tend to further increase our present credit structure."

"The availability of the vast issues of war bonds as bases for future credit expansion, coupled with the fact that our banking system has still many unused reeds—sure to be taken out later when business wishes to spread for sale—is the chief reason why prices will keep up permanently, that is, for many years."

"Between the period of temporary and permanent effects, there may be a

New York, March 11.—Amelia E. Barr, the author, died last night at her home in Richmond Hill, this city. Mrs. Barr, who was within a few days of being 88 years old, suffered a stroke last July and never completely rallied.

The funeral will be held Thursday morning and burial will be in Sleepy Hollow cemetery.

Amelia, Edith Huddleston Barr was born in Ulverston, Lancashire, England, and came to America in 1853. She and Mr. Barr lived and worked in Chicago, Memphis, Harrisburg (Tex.), Galveston and Austin, Mrs. Barr helping out by teaching school.

It was not until after she was fifty years old that she took up literature for a living, having lost her husband and three sons by yellow fever. She, however, wrote more than fifty successful novels.

Mrs. Barr was an ardent believer in reincarnation.

slight dip in the price level, say, a year from now. If so it is the more incumbent upon business to proceed now—it cannot wait a year."

The professor jumps down into economics and brings up this fundamental reason for high prices:

"The general level of prices is dependent upon the volume and rapidity of turnover of the circulating medium in relation to the business to be transacted thereby. If the number of dollars circulated by cash and by check doubles, while the number of goods and services exchanged thereby remain constant, prices will about double."

The Yale authority says that "over $1,000,000,000 in gold has come into this country from abroad since 1914." This gold is going to remain, in his opinion. He asserts the rise in prices in Europe has been higher than in this country since the war began, and he thinks that prices there will continue on a high level.

INQUIRY ORDERED INTO FIRE IN U. S. WAREHOUSE

Hotel Managers Facing Prosecution for Barred Doors.

Brig. Gen. Albert B. Kniakern, commanding the Seventh zone of supply, United States army, last night appointed a board of three officers to investigate a fire which started in Warehouse D of the quartermaster's supply depot at West Thirty-ninth and South Robey streets, yesterday noon. One-third of Chicago's fire fighting force was assembled at the warehouse after employees failed in efforts to extinguish the blaze. The flames started in the basement.

No accurate estimate of the loss could be obtained, it being placed by various officials all the way from $50,000 to $250,000.

"I have appointed a board of three officers to investigate the fire," Gen. Kniakern said. "They are Lieut. Col. H. F. Sykes, Maj. Caleb H. Canby Jr., and Maj. O. F. Skiles. They will estimate the damage and fix the responsibility." The officer said he did not believe the fire was of incendiary origin.

Three firemen overcome. Peter R. Carroll, 5283 West Eighteenth street, pipeman of engine company 15, received a severe scalp wound when he fell from an unloading platform. The firemen used regulation army gas masks while working in the basement, which was filled by heavy smoke after three firemen had been overcome.

In the pall of smoke which hung over everything within a quarter of a mile of the burning warehouses the firemen worked with electric torches, rubber boots and raincoats. Water pressure, the weakness of which hampered them at first improved as the afternoon wore on and tons of water were poured into the smoldering storehouses.

It was persistently rumored that the fire is the third to start in the army storehouse in the last fortnight.

May Prosecute Hotel Men.
The owners and agents of the old Hotel Velle, which has been used as an annex to the Morrison hotel, may be prosecuted as a result of the fire which destroyed the structure early yesterday morning and imperiled many of its 200 occupants.

Fire Attorney John R. McCabe said yesterday he might begin prosecution on the charge that the city ordinance prohibiting the locking of doors which lead to fire escapes, had been violated.

First Assistant Fire Marshal Edward Buckley says he found an iron door locked. It led to the alley at the rear of the hotel. Twenty frightened women were in front of it, beating on it, choking with smoke, almost in a panic, when the firemen rescued them. Twenty-five others who got to the first floor by means of the fire escape found their way blocked by flames pouring through an air shaft. The firemen had to cut a hole through the wall to rescue them.

It is estimated the loss will reach about $100,000. The firemen were preparing to leave, after putting out the fire in the Velle, when the flames broke out anew.

Guard Fires at Touring Car; Suspects Bombers
John Lorenzen, employed by Frederick Mattus to guard his home, at 411 North Scoville avenue, since a strike was started at the Excelsior Motorcylinder factory, of which Mattus is superintendent, ran into the Oak Park police station last night and reported he had fired several shots at four men in a green touring car. He suspected, he said, that they were about to place a bomb near the house. The men escaped.

Hamilton's squad, consisting of Detectives Edward Tuohy, Ray Gilso, William Beahan, and James Mullen, worked on the case for nearly three months. They knew there was a band who stole only a certain make of cars. They had a brush with two of the gang a few weeks ago in Garfield park. Shots were fired, and one bullet scratched Konkle's face.

They believed the gang had stolen George R. Carr's auto, from in front of his home, 526 Lake Shore drive, and had sent him a letter to the effect that he could have it back if he would bring

Sgt. Pat "Guts" Hamilton, head of the auto department of the detective bureau, grinned with satisfaction last night for five alleged auto thieves were under arrest, six stolen cars had been recovered, and about $4,000 worth of stolen automobile accessories had been located.

Hamilton's squad didn't do all the work. The Irving Park police arrested three of the men.

The men under arrest are Joseph Konkle, 19, alias "Slot Machine," 638 North Oakley avenue; John Horak, 17, 837 North Avers avenue; Frank "Red" McGee, 24, North Harding avenue; Daniel McGee, Frank's brother, 1543 North Tripp avenue, and Milton Meserow, 1528 North Washenaw avenue.

They located the auto of R. B. Stout, 5851 Kenmore avenue, even before Stout had reported it stolen. It was in a garage at 5901 West Madison street. They waited. Presently Konkle and Horak came in. The police say they have confessed, and have implicated various persons who bought stolen tires and auto parts from them.

Policeman Paul Kreusler of the Irving Park station arrested the other three. He became suspicious when he saw them get out of a car and enter the saloon of E. B. Black, 3987 North Sacramento avenue, and decided to take them to the station. There, the police say, they learned the auto had been stolen.

RED CROSS ASKS CHICAGO TO HELP CLOTHE EUROPE

1,500 Tons of Wearing Apparel Needed by War Victims.

America is asked to supply the stricken peoples of Europe with clothing. Men, women, and children of the countries ravaged by German hordes and their allies have appealed to the United States for succor in this as in other problems and the American Red Cross has undertaken the work of relief.

Its success depends upon the individual citizen. He and she is to be given opportunity to contribute anything from a pillow case to a suit of clothes in a campaign to be conducted by the Red Cross during the week of March 17-21. Altogether it is hoped to send at least 10,000 tons of clothing overseas. Herbert Hoover, who has been studying conditions, has called that suffering is acute and relief is sorely needed for the millions of persons now freed from the German yoke. Among the countries named are northern France, Belgium, Italy, Roumania, Serbia, Greece, Montenegro, Albania, Czechoslovakia, Poland, and Palestine.

Here's What's Needed.

In its prospectus of the campaign the Red Cross has issued the following list of "suggestions" of clothing needed:

MEN'S WEAR—Shirts, preferably of light colored flannel; overcoats, jerseys, underwear, trousers, coats, sweaters, sweater vests, work suits, suits, shoes, socks.

WOMEN'S WEAR—Skirts, corset slips, cloth hats, petticoats, blouses, knitted caps, coats, suits, two piece, shoes, stockings, nightgowns, pajamas, sweaters, sweaters, sweaters.

BOYS' WEAR—Shirts, union suits, undershirts, coats, suits, trousers, shoes, overcoats, jerseys, socks, stockings, sweaters.

GIRLS' WEAR—Dresses, skirts, overcoats, nightgowns, stockings, undergarments, petticoats, suits, blouses, waists, shoes, jackets, sweaters.

INFANTS' WEAR—Hats, blankets, baby shirts, sweaters, bonnets, socks, bibs, diapers, shoes, booties, baby dresses, cloaks, jackets, shawls.

MISCELLANEOUS—Bed ticks, blankets, bed sheets, mufflers, pillowcases.

Need Not Be Perfect.

Supplementary to the list it is explained that every kind of garment, for all ages and both sexes, is urgently needed; also that "garments need not be in perfect condition."

In the central division of the American Red Cross, which includes Chicago, the minimum quota of clothing has been placed at 1,500 tons. Information as to the details of contributions may be obtained from the central division headquarters, 180 North Washington avenue, Howard W. Fenton, manager.

EVERY EMPLOYEE OF CITY WILL BE IRISH MARCH 17

While city employees of Irish blood are willing to back Ald. W. R. O'Toole for president of the Irish republic because he induced the city council to give them a holiday St. Patrick's day, certain heads of city departments found themselves in a quandary yesterday.

Requests for the holiday were made yesterday by city employees with names which by no stretch of the imagination could be called Irish. The question is: "Who is to judge?" If a man or woman says he or she is Irish, that ends it as far as some departments are concerned.

"I don't think Ald. O'Toole figured on the number of Irish sympathizers," said George F. L. Mann, deputy city collector. "I checked up on the collector's office and found a lot of real Irish, as well as some 'pretenders.'"

Here we have Lucius J. Connor and Clarence Burke. To get a holiday they will have to be called Mike Connor and Patrick Burke. They are Negroes, but just let some one else tell them they are not Irish.

Edward Ashenden of the collector's office said his wife was of Irish parentage, so he surely is entitled to a holiday. Charles Belair of the same office said the French are in sympathy with the Irish freedom movement, so he wants a holiday. Wilhelm Geis of the same office said 99 per cent of the persons in his parish are Irish, that he fraternizes with them every Sunday, and wants a holiday so he can go to church St. Patrick's day.

Barney McMahon said he was one of the pioneers in the Irish freedom movement, and would like to see some one deny him a holiday. Now then, what is Mike Faherty, head of the board of local improvements, going to do?

"I know," said an employee of this department. "Mike is going to let all the employees have a holiday. Every one is Irish on St. Patrick's day, anyway."

Send Relatives Pictures of U. S. Soldier Graves

New York, March 11.—[Special.]—Identified graves of American soldiers in France are being photographed by the American Red Cross and forwarded to relatives of the dead heroes in this country. On receipt at Red Cross headquarters in Washington the photographs are placed in attractive card-board folders, with the coat of arms of the United States embossed on the cover. They contain also the name and rank of the dead soldier, the number of his grave, and the location of the cemetery in which he is buried.

SALESMAN FOUND DEAD.
Sol Sundheim, a traveling salesman employed by A. Scher & Co., 453 Broome street, New York City, and by Samuel Corn & Co., 104 West Twenty-seventh street, New York, was found dead in a room at the Hotel Morrison yesterday afternoon. Heart disease was blamed.

DEAR FOLKS:

I HAVE written you four letters thus far. You surely understand by this time what I am aiming to get into your minds and hearts about the Wilson & Company business, Chicago. In my first letter I told you why I intended to reveal to you the heart of a big business. In my second letter I introduced to you the man who heads this big business. In my third letter I gave you a glimpse into the hearts of the men's employment bureau. In my fourth letter I gave you a look into the heart of the woman's employment bureau.

Now let me get it into your minds that what I am telling you about Wilson & Company in this series of letters represents the opinions that came to me personally from the mouths and hearts of the workers, and they do not, in any sense, represent the opinions of Mr. Wilson personally, or those of any member of his official family. I am the spokesman for these happy workers. They revealed to me their innermost thoughts. They talked to me frankly and unreservedly. They told me what they really and truly feel about working for this company.

And please remember that the Wilson & Company business, or any other business, represents the length and shadow of one man. He may have in his official family and as heads of departments some of the best men in the world, but after all it is one man who must shape the policy and lead and inspire his associate workers.

I must give you the sincere and honest expressions of these workers if I am to truly represent them, and, in doing so, it will be necessary to refer frequently to Mr. Wilson in a very complimentary way. The workers insisted on telling me what they think of him and why they are so proud to work under his leadership and why they are so determined to make a success of the Wilson & Company business.

Please bear in mind, also, that this is the first time in the history of business that a Big Institution has shown a willingness to go to the public with the opinions of its workers and to rest its case with the people, so far as good will and patronage is concerned, on what they think of it.

This is so unusual that it is bound to make as much of an impression on you as it did on me. You are certain to think, as I do, that a business is sure to be all right in all particulars when the workers in the ranks are anxious to go on record in paying tribute to the man and the institution they work for.

A worker in the beef department told me one day that Wilson & Company had given him a new idea as to the meaning of the words "Company" in a firm name. He said: "Mr. Wilson has made us workers feel that we are the 'Company.' A great many of us have been taken into the business as partners. We are encouraged to save our money and to buy stock in the company with our savings. We make enough money to save some. Mr. Wilson will be pleased when we all become his partners, but not any more so than we will be."

"Mr. Wilson's just treatment of us and his consistent kindness inspires us all to do our work well. We have our hearts in our work. We know the business will grow because we are doing the right thing by the boss. He is proud of us and our work and tells us so. He treats us as personal friends. I think we do more work in a day than any crew of workers in the United States. The conditions under which we work are very happy."

"Leading us by kindness is the reason for our happiness and enthusiasm in our work. We like kind words and appreciation the same as other folks and we get both. Why shouldn't this business succeed when we are all working together so contentedly and so proudly?"

Another workman, speaking enthusiastically of the Wilson & Company environment, got off this bit of philosophy to me:

"If a fellow wakes up in the morning and says to himself, 'Oh, I hate to go to work,' he had better not go to work. He'd better get another job. He'd better work for a company that puts pep into him and makes him want to work."

"Say, boss, one of the happiest parts of my day is when I wake up in the morning and think about going to my work. I know that I am going to enjoy the whole day. I get a lot of pleasure out of my daily work for Wilson & Company. I am one of the family, you know, and the other workers feel the same way about it that I do."

I said to myself: "It must be fine to go to one's daily toll with that spirit."

In my next letter I will tell you about several incidents that gave me a new angle on what a big workshop can accomplish when the HEAD of it is prompted by the HEART of it.

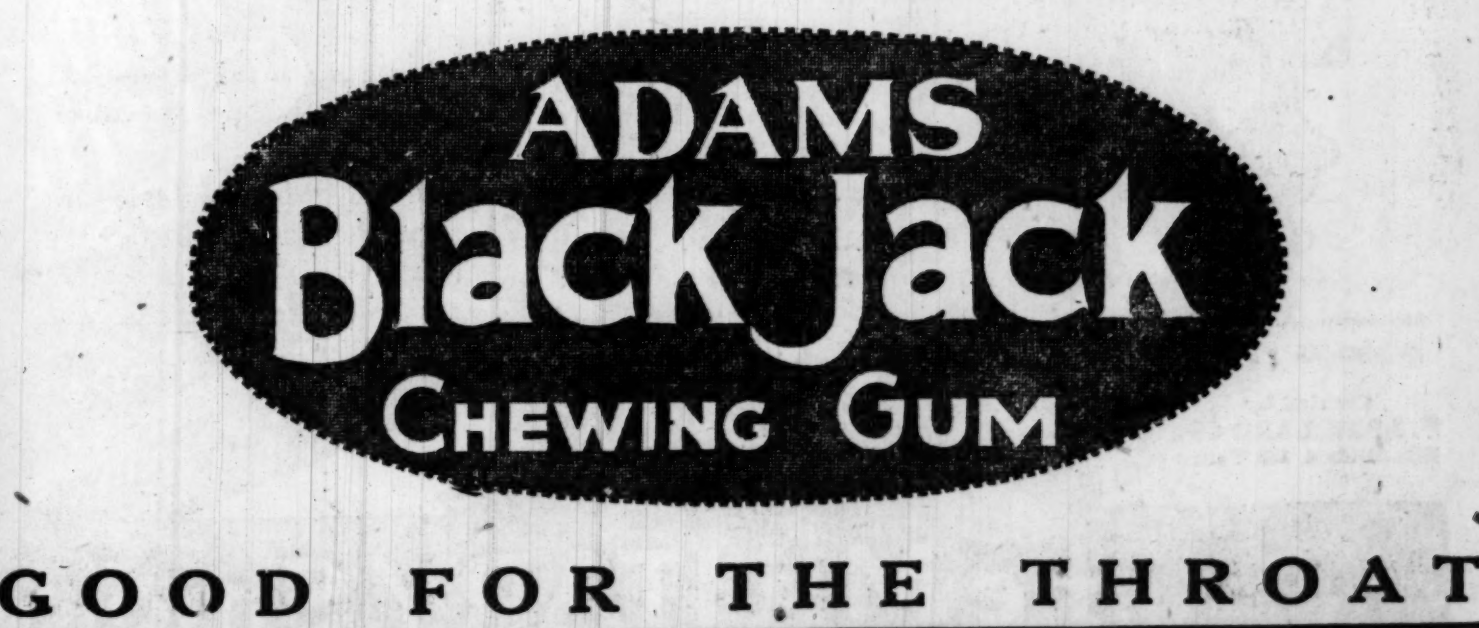

Sincerely, William C. Freeman,
131 E. 23d St., New York City.

ADAMS BLACK JACK

"Quenched Our Thirst and Cleared Our Throats"

"WHILE our outfit awaited for hours the word to go into action, believe me our nerves were on edge, and with no water at hand our throats became parched and dry,—our voices hoarse and husky. I was getting desperate when I reached in my pocket and found a package of Adams Black Jack. I passed it out among the boys and the way it braced us up, quenched our thirst, and cleared our throats is something I'll never forget."

GOOD FOR THE THROAT

No Other Equal Combination of Power and Economy

—Scientific Design Makes Oakland a Leader Among All Automobiles

No matter how much money you intend to spend on an automobile, we know you cannot buy more in power, comfort and good looks, plus economy, than is offered in the Oakland Sensible Six.

No matter how little you intend to spend on an automobile you cannot equal the low cost of Oakland ownership and operation in any other car, not mentioning the Oakland's running ability, riding ease and attractive lines, bodywork and finish.

That is why we say that the Oakland Sensible Six should always be considered when a new car is to be purchased—for, while in the touring model, for example, the engine delivers 1 full h. p. to every 48 pounds of car weight, still the owner gets 18 to 25 miles to the gallon of gasoline and 8,000 to 12,000 miles on tires.

Sedan and Coupe—Fine Cars for Everyday Use

Nothing less than the tremendous resources, financial and manufacturing, behind the Oakland Sensible Six could produce the value found in the design, materials and workmanship which distinguish these high-utility, year 'round models.

Oakland Sedans and Coupes are fine motor carriages that accord with taste and refinement, yet they are fitted for the steady work expected of all-service automobiles.

FOUR-FIFTHS OF TAXPAYERS WAIT FOR FINAL RUSH

$20,000,000 Paid; Four Times That Due in Four Days.

BY INCOME TAX EDITOR.

There will be many income tax slackers who will feel the penalty of the law for failure to file returns by Saturday, the final filing date, according to Collector of Internal Revenue Julius Smietanka.

Out of a total of about 220,000 persons who must file returns, only about 60,000 had done so up to the closing hour last night. Only $20,000,000 out of a total of $100,000,000 due by Saturday night has been paid in, the collector says. An appeal was made to mail returns and checks to help avoid congestion.

The collector said he is not aware that any extension of time will be given for filing and making of first payments, and that every person who does not file by 4:30 Saturday will be subject to the full penalty of the law.

Exemption Privileges.
An important extension of exemption privileges is contained in a new ruling announced yesterday. It is that the exemption for wife or children covers the whole year of 1918 even if the wife were wed or the child born on the last day of the year.

Persons who come under this ruling and who have already filed returns may file rebate claims.

Reversal of Policy.
Under the previous rule a person was entitled to exemption for only the part of the year in which he had dependents. With this reversal of policy those who have already filed returns on the former basis now must file amended returns. This amended report may be made at any time.

The revenue bureau revised its former ruling because thousands of persons failed to understand the rule and swamped collectors' offices with inquiries.

INCOME TAX ANSWERS

DIVIDEND PAYMENTS.
Cairo, Ill., March 8.—[Income Tax Editor.]—(1) I am a single man; income, $1,800. In addition to this, I have received a quarterly dividend from a corporation paying income tax, totaling $200 per year. Will I be compelled to pay tax on this amount?
(2) I am a traveling man and my employers pay my traveling expenses, last year amounting to $1,235.42. Is any portion of this treated as income and taxable in my return?
R. E. K.

1. Dividends are exempt from tax, as payment is made at the source.
2. No.

PAY IN TWO COUNTRIES.
Souris, Man., Canada, March 6.—[Income Tax Editor.]—Does an American citizen, six years a resident of Canada, whose income is made entirely in Canada, and who is paying Canadian income tax to the Canadian government, have to pay an income tax to the United States in addition to this? Or can he avoid payment in Canada by paying in the United States? Last year he paid tax to the United States only, as the Canadian limit was $3,000. This year he comes under both government tax laws. What can he do? C. W. F.

1. Pay both American and Canadian tax, but credit American tax with Canadian tax paid or accrued.

DEDUCT PAST TAX PAID.

Walnut, Ill., March 8.—[Income Tax Editor.]—(1) If a person paid an income tax of $45 for the year 1917 in 1918, is he allowed to deduct this amount from his taxable income for 1918?
(2) If an owner of a farm has a tenant living on the farm, is the owner allowed a deduction on the tenant's dwelling house?
S. B.

1. No.
2. Yes.

LOSS ON STOCK DEAL.
Chicago, March 8.—[Income Tax Editor.]—In 1918 Mr. A. bought from Mr. B. certain corporation stocks for $10,000. In 1918 Mr. A. sold the stocks at less than one-third the cost. Is Mr. A. permitted to deduct this loss from his 1918 income?
T. S.

Yes.

DEDUCT BAD DEBT.

Champaign, Ill., March 9.—[Income Tax Editor.]—About 1916 I engaged in a mercantile partnership with a friend. I furnished $1,500 of the capital necessary in the business. I never gave any time to that business, being engaged in other work. In 1917 it was necessary for me to put $500 more into the business, to meet obligations. We closed out the business in 1918, and I have never received 1 cent from the business. It was not necessary for me to make an income tax report until last year. I have never deducted anything for the above losses. Am I permitted to deduct the amount I invested in this business and lost from my income received from other sources?
W. J. D.

Yes, if there is no chance of reimbursement and you have charged it off as a bad debt.

L. P. W.—You are entitled to a deduction of $2,000 as head of the family and may deduct $200 each for minor children living with you if they are chiefly dependent upon you for support.

A. D. P.—Your compensation as from the government is not exempt from taxation. You would not be classed as one in "active service."

VETERAN FIREMAN DIES.

Thomas, Ill., March 8.—[Income Tax Editor.]—A fireman, 70 years old, 4835 Vincennes avenue, for forty-seven years a member of the Chicago fire department, died in the rear of 3155 South Wells street Monday night.

HOYNE TELLS OF SENDING CROOKED BANKERS TO JAIL

Prosecutor Assails City's Failure to Punish Police Grafters.

State's Attorney Hoyne was the principal speaker last night at a meeting of the Chicago chapter, American Institute of Banking, in the Hotel Morrison. The prosecutor told of the work of the prosecutor's office. The bankers showed a deep interest in his prosecution of "fly by night bankers."

"We have reason to be proud of our record on prosecuting the men who have deliberately wrecked private banks and swindled the poor," said Mr. Hoyne.

"We have obtained a conviction in every case of this kind. Some of these men started 'banks' on a $10 bill. The only purpose they had in mind was to gather up the dollars of the poor and skip away."

Munday Case Pending.

"Our record on other banking matters is nearly as good. We prosecuted the officials of the La Salle Street Trust and Savings bank. Charles B. Munday, vice president, was found guilty, but the case is still in the courts."

Mr. Hoyne then told of his effort to break up the "corrupt police ring." "You never will have an honest police force as long as the force is used for political purposes. No state's attorney can drive out all the crooks. This must be done from the inside by the city officials if it is to be effective."

Did His Best.
"I did the best I could to help the city officials get rid of crooked policemen. I offered evidence against any number of policemen, mostly commanding officers. The only case the city took hold of resulted in a police captain being fined thirty days' pay. I thought it was time to quit then, and started out on my own hook."

"We broke up the clairvoyants' trust. We sent a police captain, head of the detective bureau, and his aids to the penitentiary. The jury said Chief of Police Charles C. Healey and Ald. Oscar De Priest were not guilty of grafting charges."

"I have been accused of trying cases in the newspapers. I make no effort to keep the papers from getting news. The trouble is the papers don't pay as much attention to our obtaining a conviction of crooks as they do to a bank robbery, when the robbery occurs."

Doesn't Coddle Criminals.

"I have been accused of having the robbery of the Washington Park bank 'staged' so I would get credit for showing up the police department. I don't think I need to say that none of your money being carried off by thieves just to let me have credit for doing something."

"I have criticized the parole law and I intend to continue to do so. We have a lot of people who think they do right in coddling criminals. I don't think Chicago should let the dumping grounds for criminals."

Mr. Hoyne said he had been criticized for dealing with crooks to get evidence. He said the bankers ought to realize that "you can't get evidence regarding crooked city officials and policemen from ministers and churches."

BROKER CHARGED WITH VIOLATION OF 'BLUE SKY' LAW

A thriving business in the sale of oil holdings by telephone has been checked by Attorney General Brundage with the arrest of H. H. Schaefer, who advertises investment securities at his office at 108 S. La Salle street.

Mr. Schaefer is charged with violating the "blue sky" law in the sale of certificates in common law trust. Henry Kistner, who bought $300 worth of certificates of Empire-Carney Realty, a Kansas oil property holding, signed the warrant for Schaefer's arrest.

Mr. Schaefer contends his common law trust certificates are not stocks within the meaning of the "blue sky" act, and asserts he needs no state license to sell his oil certificates.

"The attorney general proposes to make a test case of this," Assistant Attorney General William Clausen said last night. "Although Schaefer advertises investment securities he says that his common law certificates are not investments within the meaning of the 'blue sky' legislation. We take the stand that he is operating in violation of this statute."

"According to complaints made to us most of these certificates amounting to many thousands of dollars are sold over the telephone on representations of the purchasers that they will realize as high as 15 per cent a year on their investment. They have told us also that the telephone salesmen have told them that in case of any dissatisfaction on the part of the purchasers the certificates will be bought back by the Schaefer representatives at the price paid by the purchaser."

"Besides the oil certificates the Schaefer concern is selling other securities to citizens, taking Liberty bonds in part or full payment for purchases."

No Punctures No Blowouts

All over Chicago and out of town, leading garage and accessory dealers are becoming ESSENKAY Sales Depots. Look for the ESSENKAY sign. Where you find it you will find a dealer who looks after your interests. He knows that ESSENKAY ends tire troubles.

ESSENKAY is now in use in over 50,000 passenger cars, trucks, converted trucks and tractors. Many municipalities, departments of government, large business organizations, public institutions, newspapers, etc., have increased truck delivery 100% and proved that first cost of ESSENKAY is last cost.

Doubles Tire Mileage First Cost Last Cost

Tires filled with ESSENKAY are always at uniform pressure—they cannot be deflated or run "flat," thus they wear down to the last layer of fabric. 10,000 to 20,000 miles on ESSENKAY-filled tires is the rule, not the exception.

ESSENKAY does not wear out like tires. It should last as long as your car. As tires wear down to the last layer of fabric and are discarded, the ESSENKAY may be taken out and transferred to new casings.

South Bend, Ind., March 11.—If Pal Moore, the champion prizefighter, had not stepped into the ring with Frank Fort Wayne tonight, the shattered when the final round of the fight was over. They called Moore a "champion" and the fact that he had never been defeated in a fight was a source of pride to him. Moore's first real blow had been held in South Bend, Ind., when he defeated the champion, the Moore-Mason prizefighter.

Show Lots of $
The bout was loaded with excitement. The first jab was a real one. Moore was hit by the final bell that might be seen in any place and so anxious to get on two or three punches went below the belt. The low wallop was a warning to Moore. The low wallop was a warning to Moore. The low wallop was a warning to Moore. The low wallop was a warning to Moore.

MARSHALL FIELD & COMPANY

The First Formal Showing

THIS is the week the first modes of the Victory Spring make their joyous appearance. Exquisite colorings, charm and pleasant frivolities have come again into dress. Either this grace of dress has gained greatly by its enforced retirement or it appears to be enhanced by contrast with the lately olive-drab world. By the styles here unfolded will late Spring and Summer clothes be governed, and from these displays will women who exercise good judgment in clothes wish to make selections for immediate wear.

The New Metallic Ribbon

It is one of the foremost fancies of the day—and perhaps the happiest in its contribution to the resplendent costumes of this Spring. Especially does it enhance the smartness of suits and frocks by making vestees. Bags and hat tops to match the vestee are much in vogue.

The Metallic Ribbon comes in varying widths up to twelve inches. There are all colors and silver and gold.

Our Metallic Ribbon display is unusually complete, representing the most beautiful patterns to be found here or abroad.

"Seconds"

"PERCALE" Sheets and Pillow Cases are made of such beautiful, fine cottons, that their maker guards their reputation with chary care.

A thickened thread, an oil spot, which in no way affects the wearing quality of the Sheet or Case, causes its classification as a "Second" and brings to the economical home-maker a very substantial saving.

Those who are familiar with the prices of the "first" quality of these Bed Cottons will be most pleased to have the "Seconds" offered at these prices:

Hat Shapes

EVEN in the simple, untrimmed Hat Shapes the spirit of the Victory Spring is expressed, as witnessed by irregular rolling and large poke brims. These are such Shapes as will be very smart when trimmed with soft uncurled or glycerined ostrich or with flowers. One of them is pictured.

Fifth Floor, Middle Room, State.

Navy Trotteurs of Poiret Twill

THESE are Frocks that long for balmy days so that they may have wraps cast from them and with only the aid of a small fur be quite sufficient unto themselves for street wear. Fancy weave navy tricotette makes the front panel of the Frock second from the left. And the same tricotette, hand-run with blue stitching, makes the collar. The skirt is kept narrow by a deep cuff that has trimmed itself with buttons on both sides. $75.

Sixth Floor, South Room, State.

A Suit Graced with Hand Work

THAT even Suits depart from strictly tailored lines finds an illustration in the suit pictured at the left. A long, slender rever collar is clasped by a double buttoning and a silk rope floss is pliantly hand-worked into the generous side pockets, slightly pointed at the front. The narrow skirt has a modest slit. The Suit a woman would want for afternoon as well as street wear. $87.50.

Sixth Floor, South Room, State.

Modish Wraps Unusually Priced

THE Woman's Coat Section is offering two unusual values in Wraps. They delightfully meet all Fashion's dictates, as the Cape at the right so well portrays. Many bias bands accentuate the charm of rounded shoulders, and all-ruling taffeta makes the collar, also outlined with bias bands. $67.50. Another Wrap is of excellent quality tan Poiret Twill, fashioned with an empire yoke, possessing many buttons, and most gracefully topped with a blue-stitched shawl collar. $57.50.

LANDIS HOLDS 3 AND DENOUNCES CONSUMERS FIRM

Jail Doors Open as Weird Financial Deals Are Shown.

Binding the financial operations of the Consumers' Packing company as "one of the most slimy, loathsome deals I have ever encountered, and which with which porch climbing and burglary are gentlemanly occupations," Judge Landis yesterday afternoon held two of its principal promoters to the grand jury and detained a woman under heavy bonds as a witness.

And topping off the day's proceedings, he made this announcement from the bench:

"This hearing will be resumed in the morning. Whether or not the court will enter orders for other members of the families of these men, purportedly directors or instrumentalities of said company, upon the court's judgment tomorrow."

Leaders Held.

Those held yesterday were: EDWARD J. ADER, former secretary-treasurer of the company and its originator, until recently a disbarred lawyer. Held under $30,000 bonds to the federal grand jury for giving perjured testimony and using the mails to defraud.

ELI PFÄELZER, former president of the company and stock yards packer. Held under similar charges under $25,000 bonds.

MISS GOLDIE SKOLNIK, 1444 South Tremont avenue, private secretary to Ader and an officer in several "auxiliary companies." Held as a witness under $25,000 bonds. Bonds were obtained for her shortly before midnight. The two men were still striving to obtain their release.

Among those ordered to report in court this morning for "further examination" were:

John M. Kantor, stock sales manager of the company; political lieutenant of Mayor Thompson.

A. J. Messing, Jewish rabbi and school lecturer, who helped incorporate the packing company.

William Ader, brother of Edward J. Ader. The latter's law partner, and also active in the packing company.

George Bruce, former member of the state legislature; author of the "Bruce bill," and until a few days ago a director of the company.

H. M. Theobald, former vice president and auditor of the company, and now its secretary-treasurer.

Various Disclosures.

The judge was moved into stern action at the end of the day's session, which developed that $100,000 worth of Liberty bonds had been taken largely from foreigners in exchange for the highly promotional stock; that Ader had withdrawn $21,000 from a bank on Monday and hidden it, refusing to turn it over to the court, and that over $100,000 of the company's funds are missing, as well as several "milk" companies organized by Ader have been eating fat off of the money taken in for stock.

Charles E. Erbstein, who came hastily into court during the afternoon as Ader's counsel, drew a terrific verbal lashing from the white-haired judge, after deputy marshals had taken the prisoners into custody, he asked that Ader be paroled to him.

"I wouldn't permit you to take any such responsibility," Judge Landis said heatedly. "This man, in my judgment, is getting ready for a getaway."

$100,000 from the Poor.

When Erbstein persisted, the judge turned on him and said:

"Why, the evidence shows that these people got $100,000 worth of Liberty bonds in exchange for the stock. It is one of the most slimy, loathsome deals I have ever encountered, compared with which porch climbing and burglary are gentlemanly occupations. And the question of others being involved, there may be some innocent persons. Here's Edward Troost, the present president. I've been watching him, and he for the first time today learned how he has been used. This young woman pointing to Goldie Skolnik, dressed in beautiful furs, takes the stand and through her lack of memory gives corroborative evidence of what has happened."

Three Led Away.

With deputy marshals leading the two men and the woman away and the others involved in the affair leaving the courtroom white faced, while the judge sat scowling from the bench, the scene was a finale to an extraordinary episode of "financial gipping" permitted by Illinois' "blue sky" law.

With $301,000 of cash paid in to the company's till for stock, more than $200,000 was leaking out for promotional and other expenses.

One of the most unusual bits of the testimony related to the J. H. Mitchell company, with which the Consumers' Packing company, with the knowledge of Ader and Pfäelzer, had entered into a five year contract as its exclusive fiscal agent to sell stock. Kantor and half a dozen other witnesses testified they didn't know J. H. Mitchell, but testimony was given showing thousands of dollars worth of checks of the packing company were clearing through it "for commissions."

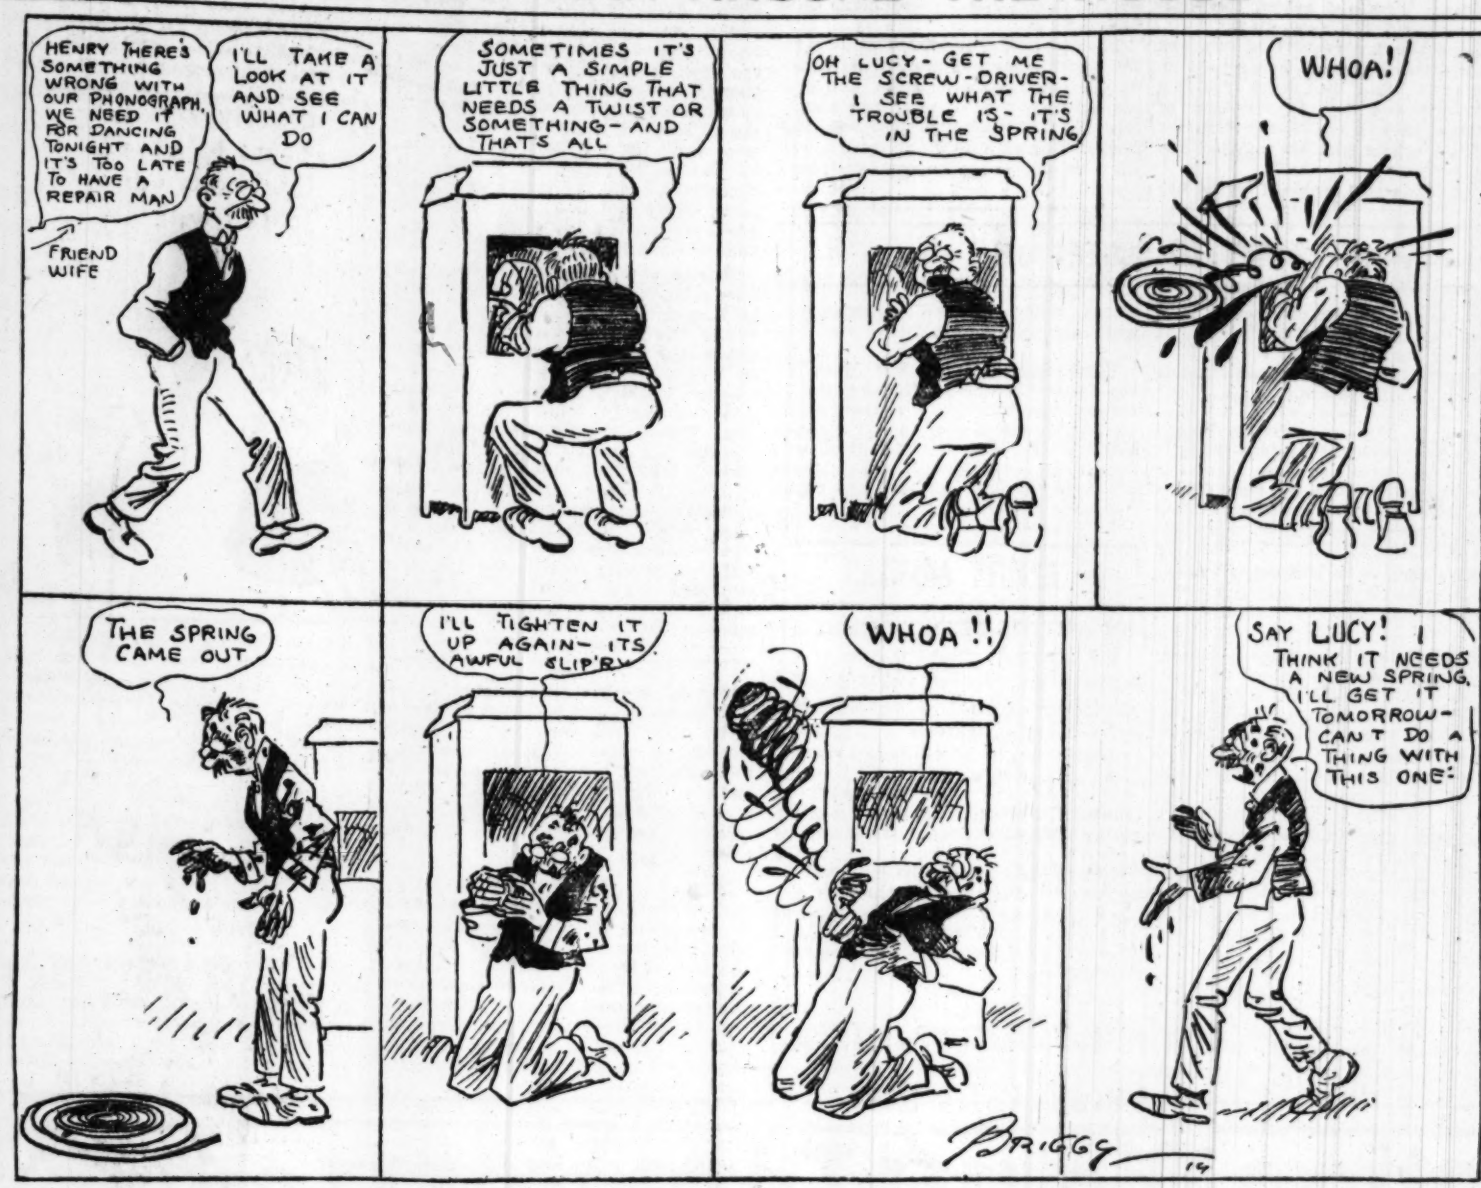

Rabbi's Sister Named.

"Who's J. H. Mitchell?" the court finally propounded to Ader.

"Why, Julia H. Mitchell, Rabbi Messing's sister," the lawyer answered after some hesitation.

Ader denied being an officer of the company. While deputy marshals were hunting Mrs. Mitchell, Miss Skol-

A HANDY MAN AROUND THE HOUSE

THE SUCCESSFUL HOME GARDEN

BY J. F. H. HEIDE.

Opening article of the 1919 series.

THE GARDEN MOVEMENT.

The home vegetable garden, though always recognized as a necessity in rural districts, owes its urban existence, in America, almost entirely to war-time conditions. It is gratifying to see the changes wrought in back yards and vacant lots during the last two years, in many cases for the sanitary and aesthetic betterment of a community.

While the faint hearted and novelty seekers did not persevere long enough to strengthen atrophied muscles, a vast number have found in gardening a pleasurable diversion, a refining home influence, and an important factor in keeping down household expenses.

The public and private need of the home garden is by no means past. The present prices of onions, apples, and table greens indicate that its maintenance is more imperative than ever for economic reasons alone.

So important does our federal government consider the matter that more money and greater effort than ever are being expended to promote home gardening. It is our patriotic duty to fall in with these plans. It is duty to our families to instruct the young in the art of gardening that they may learn the mysteries of nature and counteract the brutalizing influence of recent years.

This column will aim to guide both the beginner and the experienced in gardening along approved lines of modern horticulture. By easy stages we shall proceed from the proper selection of suitable seed and preparation of the soil to the final harvest and correct storage of the products.

Various plans will be offered for home and community effort, for the city lot as well as the great tracts of unused lands lying idle and unproductive around all industrial centers.

The articles are particularly designed for the climatic and atmospheric conditions of this vicinity, though they have heretofore proven useful from New York to Idaho and from Canada to Tennessee.

We shall aim to anticipate all difficulties, yet the column devotee is urged to ask any relevant question of private or general interest not sufficiently covered.

Training demonstration gardens will again be maintained on the three sides of the city, where the park and university authorities have already indicated their hearty cooperation.

matter," corrected Bailiff Ben Stern, who had been listening and understanding the language.

Books Are Missing.

While the elderly Ader was giving contradictory evidence H. M. Theobald, who had been dispatched to the company's vaults to get the books of the J. H. Mitchell company, reported back that there "weren't any books."

Miss Skolnik had further jumbled up matters in the meantime by testifying to "one directors' meeting when" El Messing took the notes. She remembered that George R. Bruce was at one time its president and that John H. Haskell, a stock salesman, had been connected with it.

Isn't this the same Haskell who approached the real estate bought from Guggenheim brothers for $140,000 and which had been purchased a year before by them for $26,000? The judge asked.

Miss Skolnik, after a dozen answers, "thought it was." This was the property upon which El Pfäelzer was to get $20,000.

At this morning's session the court announced he would pass final determination upon the cases of others who have been mixed up in the packing company's financial affairs.

books," declared Ader.

Ader afterwards testified regarding the "savings account" of his 11 year old daughter, Helen, which showed deposits of over $400 in two months. He explained that they consisted of "the child's savings."

Then into court came Marcus Ader and his aged wife, the "Ader boys' parents. Marcus was listed on the company's payroll as "superintendent of plants" of the Consumers' Packing company.

"What's your occupation?" the judge asked.

"I'm a barber," he said unwittingly, giving the address.

"I've worked at the trade twenty-five years. I don't know anything about the packing company."

Mrs. Ader, when questioned, somewhat hesitatingly told of "second mortgages" she dealt in through her son. She told of money transactions between them. Then, when she appeared ready to quit, the husband was sent as intermediary to ask her questions.

"She says she had a bank account at Greenbaum's with her son," the husband reported after talking to her in Yiddish.

"She said she didn't have one there and don't know anything about this

'BABY FACED GIRL' AND GANG SEIZED FOR BAD CHECKS

The gang of boys who went about the north and northwest sides lately with a "baby-faced girl" cashing bogus checks has been captured, says Detective Sergeant Thomas Etchingham.

Only one man and a check perforating machine are still being sought.

Among fifty merchants are the victims. The checks were all drawn on the Citizens' National bank against the account of the Johnson Shuttle company, 215 East Superior street, and all were for amounts between $20 and $30.

The arrest of Peter Swarkowski, 914 North Hermitage avenue, led to the taking of the others. He implicated his brothers, John and Joseph. The latter, it was learned, was recently released from the penitentiary on the plea of his wife. He has since deserted her and their child, it is said.

Peter said his brothers could be found at 647 North Dearborn street. John was arrested there, but Joseph had gone. So had the check perforator, John mentioned George Repato, 1314 Carroll avenue, and Sylvester Sells, 1224 North Dearborn street. They were arrested. With Sells was a girl who said she is Mrs. Ester Holland.

"Ah," said Etchingham. "The 'baby-faced girl' now I know we're right. Tell us about it."

The girl admitted she was with the boys when they passed the checks. Etchingham said. She also declared that she left home when she was 16. She married at 17, and her husband deserted her. There is no charge against her; she is being held as a witness.

The checks passed were part of a block stolen from the shuttle company some time ago.

CLOSE HALL AS PLUMBERS MEET

While 300 plumbers were gathering on the sidewalk preparatory to a meeting in their headquarters at 365 West Madison street last night a squad of policemen ordered the building closed.

The plumbers left after vainly trying to find another place to hold their meeting. Sunday a group of plumbers who are trying to oust three business agents of the union held a meeting on the south side, make up their slate for new business agents whom they are going to try to elect at the annual meeting in June. Police searched them for weapons, fearing another shooting scare.

CHICAGO 'SLEEP' AILMENT NOT TROPIC PLAGUE

Came from Europe; Isn't "Catching" or Deadly, Records Show.

BY DR. W. A. EVANS.

(Health Editor of The Tribune.)

Last Saturday the Chicago health department placed epidemic lethargic encephalitis on the list of diseases which physicians are required to report. The next day one death from the disease was reported and one physician voiced the opinion there were twenty or twenty-four cases of it in the city.

Another physician reported a probable case and said that he had heard of the disease in La Crosse, St. Louis, and New York. On the same day an army surgeon reported in a Virginia camp eight cases, some of which dated as far back as October, 1918. Monday's paper reported the state board of health was investigating conditions.

One Chicago physician had reported fourteen cases, half of them children. These reports establish the fact epidemic lethargic encephalitis is here, and we must reckon with it.

According to the reports the disease was first heard of in France and England about one year ago. At first it did not attract much attention. Many physicians who saw the early cases thought they were due to a form of so-called ptomaine poisoning. Many others thought it was a peculiar form of poliomyelitis, or infantile paralysis, attacking adults rather than children.

Brain Is Affected.

After a few months it was rather definitely established that it was neither of these but a separate disease in which the infection was located in the brain itself toward the base. There was inflammation of the brain, so they called it encephalitis.

The most prominent symptom was drowsiness, lethargy, sleepiness. Hence the adjective lethargic. It spread somewhat after the fashion of an epidemic. In consequence of all these qualities it was named epidemic lethargic encephalitis.

The disease frequently starts with double vision, vertigo,

Arts Club Shrouds
Its Second Play of Season in Mystery

The drama committee of the Arts club will present the second play of the season next Tuesday evening. The production is occasioning much comment, for neither the title of the play nor the name of its author has been divulged. The only advance news concerning it is that it is a "modern social comedy" and that its lines are clever and amusing enough to tickle even the most jaded. There are some who conjecture that it is a farce of Chicago's inner circles, written by a native author, but the members of the committee have denied this and have stated that there are other reasons for keeping the title and author secret.

Miss Alice Gerstenberg is chairman of the committee, of which the other members are Miss Katherine Dudley, Miss Lyman A. Walton, Theodore Hinkle, Arthur Aldis, and Arthur Hinkle. Those who are rehearsing for the production are Mr. and Mrs. Paul Walton, Mrs. William Nitz, Mrs. Mark Walton, Percy Boynton, Mr. Hinkle, and Vandervoort Sloan.

Prof. Charles H. Judd spoke yesterday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. J. L. Hamilton McCormick, 631 East 11th street, under the auspices of the women's board of Hennrich and Polytechnic hospitals. Prof. Judd's address was on the new spirit of national unity which will pervade our education as a result of the war. We are learning lessons now which have never occurred to us before, and we are being brought to a realization of the value of our own institutions of learning, he said. Prof. Judd is an advocate of having one system of education for all, and he is now in England, and he expressed a wish that he might reach that day when the head of a school system in the United States will have a seat in the cabinet, and from a corner of education direct the perfection of a universal system.

Among the society women in the audience were Mrs. Mose J. Wentworth, Mrs. Edwin W. Ryerson, Mrs. Augustus A. Peabody, Mrs. David L. Hamilton, Mrs. Thomas W. Hinde, Mrs. George Foster Pliske, Mrs. Christine C. Penney, Mrs. William R. Odell, Mrs. Charles L. Strobel, Mrs. Arthur Hinkle, Mrs. Thomas H. Lyon, Mrs. Everett Thompson, Mrs. M. L. Harris, Mrs. Florence Harris, Mrs. Morrill Dunn, Mrs. Charles J. Barnes, Mrs. William Barry, Mrs. Donald McPherson, Mrs. Frederick T. West, Mrs. William S. Monroe, Mrs. William H. Mr. Charles Coleman of 41 Banks street will arrive tomorrow from Florida, where she has spent the last five weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Carr and family of Highland park, who have been in Washington for six months, will return April 1.

Miss Gertrude Gude of the Blackstone has gone to New York City preparatory to sailing this week for a seven months' stay in Rome, where she will reside.

Mrs. Donald Sims and her daughter, Mrs. William Dove Harvey, of 2636 Lake View avenue are visiting Mrs. Smith's mother, Mrs. James M. Flower, at 1430 East 11th street. They will not return to Chicago before May.

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Smith of Evanston are visiting their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Luther Knapp at Alhambra, Cal.

Mr. and Mrs. Noble Crandall of Ravinia have returned from a brief trip to New York City.

Signe Hall of 2831 Fulton street has returned from Port Moresby, Md., where he visited his son, Lieut. Kenneth Hall, who recently returned from overseas and is recovering from wounds received in action.

Mr. Gen. Leonard Wood will address the members of the ladies' auxiliary of the Fort Sheridan association tomorrow afternoon at 1:30 o'clock in the Florence room of the Congress hotel.

Fredrick Stock will be the Cordons' guest at luncheon today. At 1:30 o'clock Mr. Stock will talk for civic unity.

The fifth of the series of talks on current events which are being held on alternate Wednesdays at the Historical society rooms will be given this morning at 10:30 o'clock. Mrs. E. Adams and Miss Julie R. Adams will lead the discussion, which will be on the "Constantinople and the Near East."

There will be a St. Patrick's breakfast at 12 o'clock at the Birchwood Country club.

Mademoiselle Francine will meet this afternoon with Mrs. Wilder A. Pomeroy at 714 Greenwood avenue, Evanston. Frank School will speak, and Mrs. Marie Lydia Standish will give a group of sixteenth century French folk songs. Mrs. William M. Pomeroy and Mrs. McNair Igenfritz will also appear on the program.

Mr. and Mrs. Julius Krulwich of 5250 Michigan avenue announce the approaching marriage of their daughter, Tillye E. to Sidney Wolfson, which will take place March 23.

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Florence L. Schwabach, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis H. Schwabach of Peoria, Ill., to Dr. Samuel S. Ferdinand, which took place on Sunday.

Mrs. Annie Goldberg of 5020 Michigan avenue announces the marriage of her daughter, Carol, to Ben Schoen, which will take place today at the La Salle hotel.

Miss Ruth McAnally, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. T. McAnally of 1834 East Fifty-third street, will assist at the junior prom of the Chicago College of Osteopathy, which will be given Monday evening at the Chicago Beach hotel.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., March 11.—[Special.]—The Japanese ambassador and Viscountess Ishii entertained at dinner tonight in honor of the acting secretary of state and Mrs. Frank L. Polk. Other dinner hosts tonight were Judge Martin A. Knapp, who entertained in compliment to Mrs. Thomas Watt Gregory, wife of the recently retired attorney general, who is now en route to France with the presidential party, and Mr. and Mrs. Henry May.

Gen. J. D. MacLachlan, military attaché of the British embassy, introduced Philip Gibbs to the audience which gathered to hear the famous British war correspondent give his own impressions of the world war. Mr. Gibbs, Gen. MacLachlan commented, saw more of the war and knew more of what actually took place than any one out of ninety-nine officers who actually took part in it.

In tracing the history of the four years' struggle, Mr. Gibbs paid high tribute to the spirit of the French, British, and American troops. The fruits of victory and future peace, he said, would be assured by the association of Great Britain and the United States, the English speaking people of the world.

Mrs. Norman Williams of Chicago was the hostess at a tea and musicale this afternoon, entertaining a distinguished company to hear Lazzaro, a famous Spanish tenor who appeared through the courtesy of the Metropolitan Opera company, and Miss de France, a famous French singer who appeared through the courtesy of the Metropolitan Opera company.

Mock Wedding
Made a Real One;
Public Loses Out

Hammond, Ind., March 11.—[Special.]—Lake county's first annual automobile show, which takes the place of the county fair, hired a bright young man for press agent. When the show opened this week at Liberty hall in Hammond with a line of farmers' touring cars parked around the courthouse he decided to introduce a melody of love into the heavy orchestration of gas engines for the overture.

A public wedding with Mayor Dan Brown master of ceremonies was the feature desired, but the marriage market in local society was flat. Maynard Smith, an automobile salesman, and the most eligible man, stubbornly refused to get married to satisfy a press agent, but agreed to a stage wedding.

To make it the union of the two leading cities of the county, Hammond and Gary, Miss Mary Ann Beckett, a school teacher of the latter municipality, was selected for the bride. A rehearsal was arranged at which Mr. Smith was introduced to his partner at the altar.

"What an ideal groom," Miss Beckett commented. Since the day he graduated from college Maynard had had the appearance of a bridegroom. He is one of those fortunate fellows who will go through life looking like the photo taken immediately following a wedding. This natural impersonation dates back even farther than the wedding, for three days old the family doctor exclaimed: "Believe me, that boy is going to make some bridegroom."

The rehearsal was held Monday. This evening the countryside gathered for the mock wedding, but the principals failed to show. Instead they sent a message that they had been married Monday evening at Crown Point and would not interrupt the honeymoon to oblige a curious public. Mrs. Smith is a graduate of Ackley Hall, Cincinnati.

The press agent has been fired.

ABOUT MUSIC

An unfamiliar sonata by Tschalkovsky, known in the trade as the G-major, was used last night by Arthur Shattuck as the focal point of his recital in Kimball hall. This pianist is fond of exploiting music not known well, and to this attitude is due the revival of Tschalkovsky's piece, explicitly neglected by other players for a long time. It was a long, long sonata, even after Mr. Shattuck cut out the third movement, and it was not too interesting. Nor was it just the thing for Mr. Shattuck's clean, continent style, which served him with felicity in other items of his bill: Saint-Saens' make-over of Guck's cold ballet-music for a long time, for one, and one of Grieg's exquisite fragments, "Mystere."

Then, at the tail of the program, he played Liang's twelfth rhapsody, in a grand style which was a measure of his skill. He flattered the thousands in Orchestra hall; and Mr. Shattuck played it with scrupulous, authentic regard for the design of the great pianist who wrote it, and with a measure of his own, and thereby exposed more hard sense than most pianists in recital.

Missa Levitzki's recital bulletined for next Sunday at the Studebaker theater is postponed because of his illness. The new date is not made known.

Two More Schools
Open Community
Centers, Making 54

With the establishing of community centers in the Cregier and Clay schools last night Chicago's list of community centers was increased to fifty-four. Eight additional schools will be in the future he made community centers, according to Dudley Grant Hays, who has charge of extension work in the schools. Action on the eight will be taken as soon as the neighborhood demonstration to the board of education department on community centers that the need and desire for the centers makes it feasible to establish them.

"Every time a community shows interest in the community center plan," said Mr. Hays, "a complete survey of the neighborhood is made. Before a center is established I know considerable of the neighborhood's personnel, its clubs and societies of every sort, its prominent citizens who will back the center, its ability to finance the innovation and the degree to which the citizens living near are seriously interested."

The following schools have requested the establishment of community centers: Goudy, Carter Practice, Marshall High school, Hibbard, Clearing, Ray, May, Parkman, Mark Sheridan, Douglas, and Keith.

OBITUARY

James L. Royce, former resident of Chicago, died suddenly Sunday, March 9, in New York City. Interment will be at Mount Carmel cemetery.

Mr. Royce was born in Groveland, N. Y., Dec. 6, 1860, and was the son of the Rev. Fayette Royce and Miriam Van Antwerp Royce.

His early life was spent in Beloit, Wis., and he graduated from Racine college. In his early 20s he came to Chicago, where for many years he was connected with Kelly, Maus & Co. Later he went into the auditing and accounting business for himself in Chicago and in 1903 removed to New York, where he continued in the same work.

Mr. Royce was a member of the order of Masons and at the time of his death retained his membership in the New York City chapter of Chicago. When in Chicago he was a member of the Marquette club. He leaves two half sisters, Mrs. C. W. Merriman and Miss Anna Royce of Beloit, Wis.

INSURANCE NEWS IN ALL BRANCHES EAST AND WEST

New York Proposes a New Rate Regula- tion Measure.

BY THOMAS R. WEDDELL.

An interesting fire insurance rate regulation bill has been introduced in the New York legislature by the state insurance department. It provides that every company must be a member of the rate making bureau under the supervision of the department, but that any company can make a flat percentage reduction from the rates made by the bureau. The companies are required to file their classified results annually with the department and the superintendent of insurance is authorized to reduce rates on any class on which a ten year experience has shown the rates to be unduly profitable. The companies have already found several serious objections to the practical workings of the measure and will present these at a hearing to be held in Albany tomorrow.

SURETY MEN HONOR CRAWFORD.

The casualty and surety men of Chicago gave a farewell dinner at the Hotel La Salle last night in honor of William S. Crawford, associate editor of the Insurance Post and the Insurance News, who leaves at the end of the week for New York to become insurance editor of the Journal of Commerce. Mr. Crawford has specialized on casualty and surety matters and has been closely identified with that line of business. He was born in the Massachusetts town of Haverhill and is a member of the American Surety Association. He was with a case of four imported suits removed from the store for a special case. One suit was present.

FEBRUARY FIRE LOSSES.

Fire losses for February in the United States and Canada, as compiled by the Journal of Commerce, totaled $2,081,000, as compared with $1,857,000 in February of 1918. The increase in losses is not due to an increase in the number of fires, but to the severity of the weather which prevailed last year.

KANSAS SURCHARGE HEARING.

Insurance Commissioner Travis of Kansas held a hearing at Topeka last week on the 10 per cent surcharge on fire insurance rates. The insurance companies were represented by Thomas Stone of Chicago and Robert Stone of Topeka, who presented evidence showing that the increased cost which justified the imposition of the surcharge had not been reduced. A number of affidavits were presented from the builders in various parts of the state showing that the cost of replacement was higher than before, owing to the higher price of labor and materials. A decision was promised on March 20.

$750,000 LOAN MADE ON DOWN TOWN BUILDING

Secured by Structure at Jackson Boulevard and Wells Street.

The Continental and Commercial Trust and Savings bank is trustee in a loan of $750,000, five years at 5 1/2 per cent, to George A. McKinnock, secured by the property at the southwest corner of Jackson boulevard and Wells street, lot 153x37 1/2 feet, improved with the twelve story office building known as the McKinnock building. It recently has been remodeled at an expense of about $700,000, two stories added, and changed from a mercantile to an office building. The loan just made takes up an existing incumbrance of $400,000, the remainder being used in connection with the improvements on the building.

The extra high grade six apartment building of seven rooms, two baths, and six garages in the rear at 40x125 Aldine avenue, near the lake, occupying a lot 60x166 feet, and with a gross annual rental of about $4,000, has been sold by Axel H. Johnson to Richard M. Pyle, for a reported consideration of about $60,000. Paul Steinbrecher & Co., who were the brokers in the transaction, will have charge of the building.

The fifteen apartment building of four rooms at the northeast corner of Lincoln street and Cornelia, lot 60x125 feet, with a gross annual rental of about $6,500, has been sold by K. R. Beak to Herman Berkson, for a reported consideration of $45,000, subject to an incumbrance of $27,500. The purchaser conveyed in exchange a three apartment building, a one store and two flat building, and a piece of vacant at a total valuation of $23,000. Berkson Bros. represented all the parties to the transaction.

A noteworthy transaction in high grade residential property was reported in the sale by Charles I. Sturges, controller of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad, to Mrs. Helen Hinsdale Hobart and husband, Ralph H. Hobart, of the attractive residence property at 660 Prospect avenue. The house is a two story and attic brick colonial structure containing about twelve rooms on a lot with a frontage of 208 feet and a depth of about 250 feet. There is a garage in the rear. The consideration is not disclosed, but it is understood to have been a good sized cash deal. McGuire & Orr were the brokers.

Factory Property Sold.

The factory property at the southeast corner of West Forty-eighth street and Artesian avenue, a one story building, 60x120 feet, on a lot 125x160 feet, has been sold by Robert Glendinning to Bessie Lipps for a reported consideration of $25,000. The property is served by a switch track of the Chicago River and Indiana Belt road. Hart & Whetson were the brokers.

Record was made of the transfer by Samuel K. Martin to Nathan Zimmerman of the property at the southeast corner of State and Twenty-first streets, lot 50x93 feet, with brick business improvements, for an indicated cash consideration of $25,000.

The six apartment building in Winona street, 316 feet east of Sheridan road, with 50x160 feet of ground, south front, has been conveyed by Emil Tyden to Philip Blum for an indicated consideration of $23,500, the purchaser giving a purchase money mortgage of $15,000.

The property at the southwest corner of Berkeley avenue and Forty-second place, lot 51x121 feet, with flat improvements, has been conveyed by L. R. Montgomery to S. O. D. Rogers for an indicated consideration of $21,600, subject to an incumbrance of $15,500.

Maurice Kahn has purchased from Regina Marco the property in Ashland avenue, 217 feet north of Gross avenue, lot 25 feet, west front, to alley, with business improvements, for an indicated consideration of $14,500, subject to an incumbrance of $2,000.

Katy Schulte has conveyed to Lizzie Hershelton the property in Forrestville avenue, 315 feet north of Fifty-second street, lot 47x125 feet, west front, with flat improvements, for an indicated $10,500, subject to an incumbrance of $10,500.

Page Steel & Wire Co. Shows Decrease in Earnings

The annual statement of the Page Steel and Wire company for 1918 shows net earnings of $261,857, as compared to $223,579 in the previous year. The directors charged off $98,218 for depreciation of inventory values. The balance sheet compares:

Pressed Steel Car.
B. M. H. The Pressed Steel Car company reported for 1918 the largest profits in its history. It earned 24 1/2 per cent on its $12,500,000 of common stock compared with 10 per cent in 1917. This company has always paid the dividend on its $12,500,000 of preferred stock and has nearly always reported it earned, but the depreciation charge has often been scrimped and sometimes omitted to make the showing. Little was earned on common stock before the war. As there is no funded debt the preferred stock is now in a specially strong position, but the common is speculative, paying dividends at the rate of 8 per cent a year.

Montgomery Ward & Co.
J. R. Earlville, Iowa.—The sales of Montgomery Ward & Co. increased 3 1/2 per cent in 1918 over the 1917 record. Net profits increased 19 per cent, and although reserve for war taxes was larger the surplus applicable to dividends showed an increase. The preferred dividend was covered more than five times. This stock is among the most conservative of industrial shares. There is now $8,000,000 of preferred outstanding. The company is a subsidiary of the National Grocer company and publishes only condensed reports. Its preferred stock is not traded in, but should have about the same investment value as National Grocer preferred, which is quoted at 90 bid, 95 asked.

First Building.
C. E. C.—The Illinois-Form-a-Tractor company is a reorganization of the Curtis Form-a-Tractor promotion which failed. It is under the same management as its predecessor and following the same policy of not furnishing information about its finances.

R. M. D. Cleveland, O.—The Consumers Packing company has been reorganized. Its affairs are now being further exposed in the bankruptcy court.

L. H. G. West Union, Ia.—The Iowa Cord Tire company is a new undertaking. It furnishes little information about its finances.

W. C. F.—The Consolidated Copper Creek Mining company is listed as obsolete. Its property is still at Mayer, Ariz.

COTTON TRADE NEWS
NEW YORK, March 11.—Cotton prices dropped today and trading was less active. Old contracts closed 43 points higher on March, but generally 17 to 42 points lower, while new contracts dropped 11 to 37 points. Complaints of delayed farm work caused Wall street buying of new style and expectations that the embargo on shipments to Germany would be lifted soon caused some purchases.

A revised interpretation of the new cotton futures law was received from the bureau of markets, making another reduction in the number of grades deliverable. According to this revised ruling the lowest grade tenderable on the new contract are low middling white, strict middling yellow, unspun, and good middling yellow, unspun.

Port receipts today, 16,086 bales; United States port stocks, 1,533,000 bales. Exports so far this season, 3,079,892 bales. Futures:

No CORNS on these feet

Ladies! Keep a tiny bottle of Freezone on your dresser, and never let a corn ache twice.

"Freezone" seems magic!

Lift Corns Off With Fingers

Doesn't hurt a bit! Apply a few drops of Freezone on a touchy corn or a callus, instantly that corn or callus stops hurting, then shortly you lift that bothersome corn or callus right off, root and all, without pain or soreness.

You can lift off hard corns, soft corns, or corns between the toes and the "hard-skin" calluses.

Costs Few Cents
Tiny bottles cost only few cents—at drug stores.

SAXON MOTOR ORGANIZATION

PLANS ARE UP

The advisory committee of the creditors of the Saxon Motor Car corporation has adopted a plan for the reorganization of the company and have called a meeting of the stockholders to pass upon it. It is a hard alternative to offer the shareholders, which is due either produce $2,400,000, which is due creditors and take their corporation to do as they please with it or write off their stock as a total loss and surrender their equity to the creditors. In case the creditors take over the company they will give shareholders a ninety day option on it, redeemable by the payment of $2,400,000.

If the shareholders refuse to produce the $2,400,000, and there is but the remotest chance that they will attempt to raise the money, the creditors will form a new company to take over the business; taking $2,400,000 of common stock for their interest and an option on $800,000. The authorized common being $3,200,000. Bonds amounting to $2,000,000 and $1,200,000 of preferred stock, will be sold to provide working capital. Syndicates have been organized to market these.

The company has been doing well recently, but so much of its activities have been directed to a liquidation of inventories that earnings are difficult to determine. The government has practically finished with the company's new Detroit plant, and it will be returned to the company as soon as business warrants its equipment.

A Message About Advertising

FROM THE
U. S. DEPARTMENT OF LABOR

IF you are not advertising, then advertise because it saves money for you and it reduces the price to the consumer.

Advertising prevents profiteering. It insures honest profits and makes them permanent.

The message of the U. S. Department of Labor to merchants and manufacturers and to all progressive American business men is to advertise.

Tell the public about your goods. The consumer has plenty of money. He is willing to spend it and we want him to spend it on American-made products. The easiest, quickest and most economical way in which this can be accomplished is by advertising.

Start your campaign right now.

U. S. DEPARTMENT OF LABOR

The Time

Right now—March, 1919—is the time to inaugurate or expand your selling campaigns. The Government messages printed above point the way to unworked gold mines. Dash—aggressiveness—courage—will win greater rewards than ever before. The Chicago Tribune is able to confirm the advice of the Department of Labor because its own promotional advertising was never so vigorous nor so productive as today.

The Chicago Tribune is showing its good faith in submitting the Government's messages to you, by advertising itself in full page newspaper advertisements from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

The Market

Our own home market—the Chicago Territory—is the richest, most desirable in the world. The five states—Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Michigan and Wisconsin—have one-sixth of the population of the United States, possess one-fifth of the wealth, produce one-fifth of the crops, make one-fifth of the manufactures. The Seventh Federal Reserve District, of which Chicago is the center, has only 14% of the population of the United States, but furnished 19% of the subscribers to the Third Liberty Loan Bonds. Thanks to the fact that munition contracts were few, this district has suffered least of any in the country from readjustment since the armistice. It was always the greatest American market, but its supremacy is more clearly evident today than ever before.

The Medium

To an extraordinary degree the tremendous, desirable Chicago Territory is dominated from an advertising standpoint by one great newspaper—The Chicago Tribune. In the city of Chicago, with a population half that of the continent of Australia, The Chicago Tribune is read by three families in five. Taking the five states of the Chicago Territory as a whole, with their population double that of the entire Dominion of Canada, The Chicago Tribune is read by one family in five. What is more important even than mere numbers is the attitude of Tribune readers who have been educated to use their newspaper as a daily buying guide. Three million responses to the box-number ads alone in The Tribune want ad section during 1918 testified to the astounding pulling power of Tribune advertising.
